USC: NO. 1 IN THE NFL

Again this year USC has the most players among universities represented in the National Football League.

Going into training camp there were 54 ex-Trojans on NFL rosters, including seven rookies. USC players were on the rosters of 25 of the NFL's 28 teams.

Last season there were 43 Trojans on opening day rosters. Next best were Ohio State, Oklahoma, Penn State and UCLA with 26.

Many of the USC pros came from the two most highly drafted classes in college football history — 1975 and 1977 (1974 and 1976 seasons). Both these classes had 14 players drafted, an all-time record.

JOHN ROBINSON Head Football Coach

John Robinson is enthusiastic, witty, outgoing, innovative—and successful. In just six years he's established himself as one of college football's foremost coaches.

The USC coach has turned in a 59-11-2 record in his career and now stands second in winning percentage (.833) among coaches who have been on the job at least five years.

And along the way he's piled up some other remarkable accomplishments:

- From early 1978 to late in the 1980 season, his teams shattered the USC record for most consecutive games without a loss, running off a 28-game unbeaten streak. The old mark lasted 47 years.

- His 1978 team won the national championship (UPI poll) with a 12-1 record, and his 1979 squad was unbeaten (11-0-1). His 1976, 1978 and 1979 teams won Pac-10 championships.

- Under Robinson, the Trojans have finished no worse than 13th in the final polls, including three finishes in the top two. USC has been ranked 2nd, 12th, 1st, 2nd, 11th and 13th at the end of his six seasons.

- USC's bowl game record in the Robinson era is 4-1.

- And finally, John has run off a couple of other impressive streaks that were finally snapped in 1981: a 17-game unbeaten streak on the road and a 20-game winning streak against non-conference opponents (including bowl games).

- Robinson has also coached two Heisman Trophy winners in three years—Charlie White in 1979 and Marcus Allen in 1981. Allen is the first 2,000-yard rusher in college history, shattering the NCAA single-season mark with 2,342 yards and a 212.9-yards-a-game average. In all, he set 15 NCAA records and tied a 16th.

For his success, Robinson was voted national Coach of the Year in 1979 by the Washington D.C. Touchdown Club and also Pac-10 and West Coast Coach of the Year in both 1976 and 1978.

In 1976, John was also the first rookie head coach from the Pac-10 to take a team to the Rose Bowl in 25 years—and the first to win it in 61.

In an era when coaches are changing jobs at a rapid pace, Robinson reemphasized his commitment to USC and college football late in 1979 by signing a new five-year contract. After the 1980 season he extended it to five years again.

"My involvement with USC has been the most rewarding experience of my life," he said. "I've thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to work with young men here at the university level—both on and off the field. It's one of the biggest rewards in coaching.

"These six years have also brought me a genuine love for this school and its family. I can't emphasize strongly enough how much a part of my life USC has become."

In keeping with these sentiments, the USC coach last January turned down an extremely lucrative offer from the New England Patriots.

On the field, Robinson has produced six straight potent offensive teams and perpetuated USC's great heritage of defensive excellence.

The 1976, 77 and 79 teams finished third, fourth and fourth in the country in total offense—and the 1979 team gained more yards than any team in Trojan history.

Defensively, in six years the Trojans have finished first in the Pac-10 four times and second once in team defense under

Robinson, and the 1980 team led the conference in every single team defensive category.

Robinson grew up with another successful coach, the Oakland Raiders' John Madden, who has since gone into broadcasting. Born in Chicago on July 25, 1935, Robinson was raised in San Mateo, Calif., where he went to grammar school with Madden. He later served as the best man in his wedding.

At San Mateo's Serra High, John played football and baseball, winning Catholic All-American and All-Northern California honors at end for the football team.

At Oregon, where he received a bachelor's degree in education in 1958, Robinson was a letterman end when the Ducks won the Pacific Coast Conference title in 1957. He played briefly in Oregon's 10-7 loss to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

When he took the job at USC, John was well prepared. He brought with him 16 years of full-time coaching experience—12 as an assistant at Oregon (1960-71), 3 as John McKay's offensive coordinator at USC (1972-74) and 1 as backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders (1975).

The Trojan coach and his wife, Barbara, now live in Pasadena. They have two daughters, Teresa, 23, and Lynn, 21, and two sons, David, 18, and Christopher, 15.

ROBINSON AND HEISMAN WINNER MARCUS ALLEN

ASSISTANT COACHES

MARV GOUX Assistant Head Coach Defensive Line

To USC fans everywhere, Marv Goux is "Mr. Trojan."

The dynamic assistant head coach of USC has spent 30 years at the University as a player and coach and may spend forever there.

"When he dies," quips head coach John Robinson, "we'll bury him under the front steps of the athletic department."

A star player in the early 1950s, Goux has been coaching at the university since 1957 and is enjoying his 26th year as an assistant coach this fall. He was one of only two assistants to coach the entire John McKay era, when the Trojans won four national titles and went to eight Rose Bowls.

Tough on the field but close to everyone that he's coached, Goux is seen as a father figure by most of the players under him.

Opposing coaches, meanwhile, have often commented on Goux's good sportsmanship. A fiercely competitive man who despises losing, Marv has nevertheless made it a tradition to personally congratulate the players of every opposing team that beats USC.

The 50-year-old Goux (born Sept. 8, 1932) first came to USC in 1952 when he started at linebacker for the Rose Bowl team that blanked Wisconsin, 7-0. He had been a JC All-American linebacker at Ventura JC in 1951. Before he was through as a USC player, Marv had started three years, including 1954 and 1955 (he was hurt in 1953). He went both ways his last two seasons, playing linebacker and center.

Small at 5-10 and 185 pounds, Goux made up for his lack of size with quickness and great desire. He's one of just two Trojans to twice win the Davis-Teschke award, given annually to the most inspirational player, collecting that honor in both 1954 and 1955. His teammates also elected him co-captain in 1955.

In 1956, after graduation, Goux coached Carpinteria High School in Southern California to the small school CIF finals with a 9-1 record.

Hired in 1957 by new coach Don Clark, Marv served as head freshman coach and varsity assistant, before moving up to the varsity full-time when McKay was hired in 1960. He was named assistant head coach in 1977 by Robinson.

During his Trojan career, Goux has coached 11 first team All-Americans, including Gary Jeter, John Grant, Charles Weaver, Al Cowlings, Jimmy Gunn, Tim Rossovich, Damon Bame, Dan Ficca, Ron Mix, and Marlin and the late Mike McKeever.

TED TOLLNER

Offensive Coordinator Running Backs

In his first season on the USC staff, 42-year-old Ted Tollner joins the Trojans with an outstanding national reputation.

Previously the offensive coordinator at both San Diego State and BYU, Tollner coached three NCAA passing champions in nine years. As the BYU quarterback coach in 1981, he tutored All-American Jim McMahon, who led the country in passing with 30 TD throws, a 64.3% completion average and only seven interceptions in 423 attempts.

And in eight seasons at San Diego State (1973-80), two more of Tollner's quarterbacks — Jesse Freitas (1973) and Craig Penrose (1975) — also led the country in passing. Freitas completed 65.4% of his attempts and Penrose hit 56.7% of his.

At USC, Tollner is involved with both the passing and running games as the offensive coordinator and is also coaching the running backs.

Before going to San Diego, Ted spent a total of 10 years in junior college and high school coaching. As head coach at College of San Mateo in 1971 and 1972, he compiled a 15-5 record, including a 9-1 mark in 1971 when his team won the Golden Gate Conference title. He was also an assistant at San Mateo from 1968 to 1970.

As head coach at Woodside High School in Woodside, Calif., his four-year record (1964-67) was 30-4-1.

Born May 29, 1940, Tollner earned bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education at Cal Poly (San Luis Obispo) where he started at quarterback for two years and pitched four years for the baseball team. When he earned his bachelor's degree in 1962, he graduated on the Dean's List.

His first job was at Morro Bay High School in Morro Bay, Calif., where he was an assistant for one year, before going to Woodside and serving a year as an assistant and becoming head coach in 1964.

FOSTER ANDERSEN

Outside Linebackers

Blessed with a tremendous background in both offense and defense, Foster Andersen is the only coach in Los Angeles history who has coached for USC, UCLA and the Rams.

The 42-year-old Andersen rejoined the Trojan staff in 1981 to coach the tight ends, after doing some part-time scouting work for USC in 1980. This year he moves back to defense to coach the outside linebackers.

Foster had previously been a Trojan assistant under both John McKay (1974-75) and John Robinson (1976), handling the offensive line for two years and then the outside linebackers in 1976 — the year USC allowed only 93 points in winning the last 11 games. That season he coached future pro standouts David Lewis and Rod Martin.

In 1977 Andersen was hired away by UCLA to coach the secondary, and then in 1978 he coached the offensive line with the Rams.

Born March 11, 1940 in Los Angeles, Foster was an All-CIF guard at Mark Keppel High School. He was a three-year starter at both offensive and defensive tackle for UCLA, playing under Bill Barnes from 1959 to 1961. He started in the 1962 Rose Bowl against Minnesota, and got his bachelor's degree in history.

A graduate assistant at UCLA in 1962, Andersen spent 1963 as an assistant at Pasadena City College, before going into the Army. He served four years (1964-67), spending one of them as a military adviser in Vietnam and rising to the rank of captain.

When he was discharged from the Army, Foster coached one more season at PCC (1967), two years as defensive coordinator at East Los Angeles College (1968-69) and one season as defensive coordinator at Cal State L.A. (1970), before assuming the head coaching job there in 1971.

During that period he also went back to UCLA to get a master's degree in history (1969). He was head coach at Cal State L.A. for three seasons (1971-73) before being hired by John McKay in 1974.

ARTIE GIGANTINO

Inside Linebackers

Recognized as one of the more innovative young defensive coaches around, Artie Gigantino has coached both inside and outside linebackers at USC and is now in his fourth year on the Trojan staff.

He came to USC after spending six years as an assistant with California, and numbers among his players Chip Banks, who was not only a first team All-American in 1981, but the third player chosen in last spring's NFL draft.

Gigantino has also coached current Trojans August Curley and Byron Darby, who have been named honorable mention All-Pac-10 so far in their careers.

At Cal, Artie coached the defensive line for four years (1975-78) and also served as the Bears' recruiting coordinator in his last season in Berkeley. In his first two seasons with the Bears (1973-74) he worked with the outside linebackers as a part-time coach and graduate assistant.

Born June 14, 1951, Gigantino played linebacker, tailback and fullback and also wrestled and played baseball at J.P. Stevens High School in Edison, N.J.

At Bridgeport University in Bridgeport, Conn., Artie was a three-year starter at linebacker during seasons in which the school won 22 straight games.

When he first became a full-time assistant at Cal, Gigantino was only 23, which made him one of the youngest full-time coaches in the country.

Later, when Mike White was replaced by Roger Theder as the Bears' head coach in 1978, Gigantino was one of only three staff members to be hired back by Theder.

GIL HASKELL

Special Teams, Wide Receivers

Now in his fifth year on the USC staff, Haskell in 1981 took on the added duty of coaching the wide receivers, after handling all of USC's special teams in his first three years.

Last year his freshman kicker, Steve Jordan, not only made 11 of 17 field goals in his first season, but also hit 32 straight extra points. In 1978 Haskell coached Jordan's older brother, Frank, the USC career field goal record holder who beat Notre Dame on a 37-yarder with two seconds left.

And among his special teams players in 1979 was Ray Butler, the nation's third leading punt returner with a 14.4 average.

Haskell came to USC after nine years at St. Ignatius High in San Francisco, where he turned in a 34-15 record as head coach the last five, after spending four as an assistant. He was also track coach four years, winning three Catholic Athletic League titles.

Gil began his career at Riordan High, also in San Francisco, serving as line coach for three years. He coached the Riordan track team to two league titles in three seasons.

The 39-year-old Haskell played on three Far West Conference champion football teams at San Francisco State as a defensive back. He was all-conference as a senior and "Little" All-Coast second team. He had a tryout with the San Francisco 49ers.

Born September 24, 1943, Gil played football and baseball at St. Ignatius High. He was a halfback and defensive back on three St. Ignatius champion football teams of the 3-A Division in San Francisco and a catcher on two 3-A Division champion baseball squads.

Haskell's uncle, the late Dr. William O'Grady, was a part-owner of the San Francisco 49ers, and before coming to USC in 1978, Gil had not missed a 49er home game in 22 years.

HUDSON HOUCK

Offensive Line

When John Robinson became USC's head football coach in late 1975, the first man he hired was Hudson Houck.

And in six years Hudson has become recognized as one of the great offensive line coaches in the country.

Five of his players have won first team All-American honors — tackles Marvin Powell and Keith Van Horne, and guards Brad Budde, Pat Howell and Roy Foster.

Howell and Budde, in fact, were unanimous picks and Van Horne and Foster were consensus choices. Budde was also the 1979 winner of the Lombardi Award as the outstanding lineman in the country.

Now 39, Houck came to USC after four years at Stanford, the last three as offensive line coach (1973 to 1975), but it was also a homecoming. He was a former Trojan player and freshman coach.

Born January 7, 1943, Hudson played and coached under John McKay. He was a reserve center on the national championship Trojan team of 1962, then started the last four games and lettered in 1963. Heavily counted on in 1964, Houck injured his back and played sparingly, the bad back keeping him from lettering.

A 1965 graduate of USC with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Houck was an assistant football coach and teacher at Crescenta Valley High School in 1967 and 1969. His career was interrupted twice by service in the Army.

Hudson came back to USC the first time in 1970 and spent two seasons as head freshman coach and varsity graduate assistant. His 1971 Trojans — USC's last freshman team — went 4-0 and boasted such stars as Anthony Davis, Pat Haden, Richard Wood, Johnny McKay, Charles Phillips, Allen Carter and Marvin Cobb.

NATE SHAW

Secondary

Now in his third year on the USC staff, Nate Shaw is right at home coaching the secondary. He's already made a big mark there as a Trojan player himself.

Back in 1966 Nate was a first-team All-American cornerback for John McKay, finishing his career with 10 interceptions for 165 yards.

The 37-year-old Shaw came back to USC from Oregon State where he coached the secondary for four years under ex-Trojan Craig Fertig (1976-79) and turned out a pair of All-Pac-10 defensive backs — Jay Locey (1976) and Tim Smith (1978).

In 1980 he coached the USC wide receivers and tight ends, before moving to the secondary in 1981, where junior Joey Browner won second team All-Pac-10 honors.

Born May 20, 1945 in San Diego, Shaw was a football, basketball and baseball star at San Diego Lincoln High, winning football All-American honors. He then spent a year at San Diego City College, where he was a second team All-American defensive back.

A three-year letterman for USC, Shaw played for the Trojans from 1964 through 1966, winning All-Coast and All-Pac-8 honors in 1965, before being named All-American in 1966.

After spending two years in the Army in Korea, Shaw played defensive back for the Rams for 1969 to mid-1971, when a knee injury ended his career.

Before going to Oregon State in 1976, Shaw coached the secondary at Los Angeles Southwest College in 1974 and 1975.

NORVAL TURNER

Quarterbacks

Former Oregon quarterback Norv Turner once fired a touchdown pass against USC. Now he coaches the Trojan quarterbacks.

The 30-year-old Turner, in his seventh year on the USC staff, took over as quarterback coach in 1981, after a great year with the Trojan secondary in 1980.

USC led the Pac-10 in every single team defensive category that season, with Norv's safeties, Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith, winning first and third team All-American honors.

From 1977 to 1979 Norv coached the receivers and rookie quarterbacks, working with such players as flanker Kevin Williams and tight ends Hoby Brenner and James Hunter, all of whom won first or second team All-Pac-10 honors. In 1976 he was a part-time coach in his first year on the staff.

Currently ninth on Oregon's all-time passing list with 1,807 yards and 11 touchdowns, Turner lettered three years for the Ducks, started as a junior and senior and was named co-captain as a senior.

USC's national champions barely defeated Oregon and Turner, 16-7, in 1974 in a game made closer by Norv's 45-yard second quarter touchdown pass to Greg Bauer.

Born May 17, 1952, Turner was a quarterback and defensive back at Alhambra High in Martinez, Calif., going both ways as a senior and leading his team to a 9-0 mark and league championship.

Turner's best year at Oregon was his final one when he threw for 1,261 yards, completing 99 of 202 passes. He was named ABC-TV's Player of the Game in a regionally televised 27-23 victory over Air Force.

Norv graduated from Oregon in 1975 with a bachelor's degree in history, and spent one year as a graduate assistant on the Duck staff.

JERRY ATTAWAY

Coordinator of Physical Development

Jerry Attaway, in his fifth year on the USC staff, is now the full-time strength coach — in charge of physical conditioning for the team.

In his first three seasons with USC (1978-80), Jerry not only was in charge of conditioning, but also helped coach the offensive line. He came from Utah State where he had spent two years on the staff of former Trojan assistant Bruce Snyder as the outside linebacker coach.

Jerry played football with former Trojan assistant Paul Hackett as a junior cornerback at UC Davis but was forced to quit in his first year there after suffering cardiac arrest. After a year away from the sport, he returned to assist Hackett with the UC Davis frosh.

At the same time he was a UC Davis coach, Attaway continued his education at Sacramento State and graduated in 1972 with a physical education degree.

Following graduation, he served as an assistant coach at College of Idaho for three years.

The 36-year-old Attaway was born in Susanville, January 3, 1946, and played four sports at Lassen High there. He played football for two years at Yuba Junior College before transferring to UC Davis.

MIKE McDONALD

Inside Linebackers, Special Teams

Mike McDonald is entering his third year on the Trojan coaching staff, but this will be his seventh involved with the USC football program. As a player, Mike was a four-year letterman for John Robinson from 1976 to 1979.

The 24-year-old McDonald becomes a part-time assistant this season after working as a graduate assistant the past two years. He will assist Artie Gigantino with the inside linebackers and Gil Haskell with the special teams. As a graduate assistant he worked with both the inside and outside linebackers.

Mike played linebacker for the Trojans and was a leader of the special teams, handling the snaps for punts and field goals during the four years he played. He was the center for Frank Jordan's last-second, game-winning field goals against UCLA in 1977 (29-27) and Notre Dame in 1978 (27-25).

At John Burroughs High in Burbank, Calif., McDonald was an All-CIF 3-A first team selection as a linebacker and was named Co-Defensive Player of the Year in the Foothill League and Lineman of the Year in the Glendale-Burbank area.

He graduated from USC in 1982 with a bachelor's degree in adaptive physical education. He also got his secondary teaching credential from USC in 1982.

RUSS PURNELL

Tight Ends, Offensive Line

Russ Purnell joins the Trojan coaching staff after a successful nine-year stint as an assistant at perennial football power Edison High in Huntington Beach, Calif. He will work with the tight ends and assist Hudson Houck with the offensive line.

While Purnell was at Edison, the school won two CIF Big Five Conference Championships (1979 and 1980) and took five of the last six Sunset league titles, including the last four in a row. He coached tight ends, offensive tackles and linebackers while at Edison and was defensive coordinator in 1980 and 1981.

Born June 12, 1948, the 34-year-old Purnell attended Redmond (Wash.) High School as a sophomore and junior, then spent his senior year at Huntington Beach High School. He played varsity football all three years.

At Orange Coast College he was a center for two years before transferring to Whittier College, where he was the all-league center and team captain as a senior.

Purnell graduated in 1970 with a bachelor's degree in business administration, then got his secondary teaching credential from Whittier in 1972.

His coaching career started at Whittier where he was a graduate assistant in 1970 and 1971. He was an assistant at Corona del Mar High School in 1972, then moved to Edison.

WALT RANSOM

Quarterbacks, Wide Receivers

A backup quarterback for three years at USC, Ransom returned to the Trojans last year to assist Norv Turner and Gil Haskell with the quarterbacks and wide receivers. This is his first coaching job.

A redshirt in 1976 with the Trojans, Ransom appeared in one game in both 1977 and 1978, before graduating with a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1979. He then began his own business — Walt Ransom Roofing in Huntington Beach — which he still runs.

Now 31, Ransom was the Trojans' oldest player during his career, coming to USC after two brilliant years of JC football and four years of minor league baseball.

In 1968 Walt was the No. 1 draft choice of the Boston Red Sox, after hitting .400 as the first team All-City shortstop for South Gate. He was also the All-City quarterback and led South Gate to the 1967 Eastern League Title.

After four years in the Red Sox farm system, Ransom went on to East Los Angeles Junior College, where a new rule allowing collegians to be professionals in one sport and amateurs in another allowed him to play football again.

As a 23-year-old JC freshman quarterback in 1974, he and future Trojan Lynn Cain led East L.A. to the California state championship. Walt not only directed the team to a 9-1-2 mark, but completed 50.6% of his passes (46 of 91) for five touchdowns.

In 1975 he was an honorable mention JC All-American pick, leading East L.A. to a 7-1 record before being injured. In less than a full season he completed 100 of 192 passes (52.1%) for 1,512 yards and 12 TD's.

MARK WATSON

Secondary

Mark Watson, a head coach in high school for six years, is in his second season on the Trojan staff, assisting Nate Shaw with the secondary.

Watson coached Fort Bragg High in Northern California to a 6-3 record in 1975, and then took over Liberty High in the East Bay, turning in a 27-17 record in five years (1976-80).

Before Watson arrived, Liberty had a losing record, but he rebuilt the program and won a league championship during that time.

Born Dec. 19, 1950, Mark was an all-league tailback and defensive back at Alhambra High in Martinez, Calif., before going on to play at USF. He was a tailback for two seasons and a defensive back for one, before the Dons gave up football his senior year. He won small college Northern California Player of the Week honors one time during his career.

Graduating in 1972 with a bachelor's degree in political science, Watson got his secondary teaching credential in 1973 and later got a master's degree in physical education at St. Mary's in 1980.

The 31-year-old Watson began his coaching year at his alma mater, Alhambra, working as an assistant in 1973 and 1974, before becoming head coach at Fort Bragg.

JOHN ZINDA JV Coach, Offensive Assistant

John Zinda joins the USC staff after 14 years as the head coach at Claremont-Mudd College. He's on a one-year sabbatical from that school and will handle USC's junior varsity program, which has been reinstated after an eight-year lay-off.

The 44-year-old Zinda compiled a 62-60-2 record at Claremont-Mudd, winning SCIAC Championships in 1970 and 1979. He was named NAIA

District III Coach of the Year in 1970.

Prior to his arrival in 1968, Claremont-Mudd had won only four games in the three previous seasons.

In 1965, John became the first head coach for Royal Oak High in Covina, Calif. His first team, made up entirely of sophomores, went 6-3 and won the conference championship. In 1967, with the school's first senior class, Royal Oak went 12-0 and won the CIF 2-A championship. John was named San Gabriel Valley Coach of the Year following the 1967 season.

Born April 2, 1938, John attended Mt. Carmel High School in Los Angeles and was a teammate of USC All-Americans Marlin and the late Mike McKeever. He then moved on to Cal State Los Angeles where he was a starting running back his senior year.

Graduating in 1960 with a bachelor's degree in history, Zinda got his secondary teaching credential from Cal State Los Angeles in 1961.

John began his coaching career at Claremont-Mudd as an assistant from 1962 to 1964.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

DR. RICHARD H. PERRY

In the 1980s — with universities everywhere struggling to balance their budgets — the job of athletic director requires a man with special talents.

And in energetic Dick Perry, now in his eighth year on the job, USC has such a man. As an administrator, Dick has built a national reputation as a fund raiser, public speaker and leader in college athletics.

And along the way he's maintained the remarkable winning tradition of the country's most successful athletic department.

USC is far and away the leader in national team titles won, and, given Dick's constant support, the Trojans have added 17 more national championships in his era — eight by the men and nine by the women.

When he was appointed athletic director by USC president Dr. John Hubbard in November, 1975, Dick was an associate professor of physical education at USC, a post he had held for eight years. He had also been involved in the university leadership. A member of the faculty senate for six years, he served as president of that body in 1974-75.

And, of course, he brought a strong background in athletics to his new job. Before coming to USC, he was head basketball coach at California State University, Long Beach, for nine years and also spent three seasons there as assistant football coach.

In 1975-76, he served as president of the Southwest District of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He was president of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in 1971-72.

When Dick became head basketball coach at Long Beach in 1958, there was no scholarship help and the team was playing exclusively small colleges. He built the program to a level where the 49ers were playing intersectional games with such teams as Oklahoma State, Wichita State and Creighton, and playing double-headers with USC and UCLA.

His Long Beach team reached the finals of the College Division Western Regional playoffs in 1960.

Dick left Cal State, Long Beach when offered an associate professorship at USC in 1967 and received his Ph.D. degree from USC in 1968.

Born July 13, 1929, Dick graduated from Long Beach Wilson High School and received his bachelor's degree from the College of Emporia in Kansas in 1951 and his master's degree from Kansas State Teachers College.

Dick and his wife, Donna, live in Garden Grove, and they have four children — three of them USC graduates. Jim, 30, is the head basketball coach at La Quinta High School, and his wife's name is Pilar. Joan, 26, is married to Kurt Bischofberger, and John, 24, graduated from USC in 1981 after playing with the football team as a punter. The Perrys' youngest daughter, Janelle, is 16.

A LOOK AT USC IN 1982

In the last 20 years, USC's Trojans have won a dozen conference championships and gone 10-4 in bowl games. But the next two seasons — because of NCAA probation — they're ineligible to win the Pac-10 title and unable to go to a bowl.

However, as he looks ahead to the 1982 season, John Robinson, whose 59-11-2 record is second in the nation in winning percentage (.833), is as enthusiastic as ever.

"I'm as excited about this season as any I've ever participated in," he says. "We've had some things taken away from us, but we have a great deal left. We're facing one of the most challenging schedules we've ever had, and we have a chance to prove what kind of people we really are. In fact, we had one of our most competitive springs.

"USC is really a special place, and I think everyone at our university will pull together and face this challenge with enthusiasm and purpose. Our problems can bring us closer together and make us even more determined.

"We'll have a damn good football team. Count on it."

Besides the lack of a bowl game for motivation, the Trojans will also have to overcome the loss of some outstanding players and handle perhaps their most difficult road schedule in the Robinson era.

The road schedule includes Florida, Oklahoma, Stanford, Arizona State and Arizona. Florida and Oklahoma, both top ten candidates, are two of the first three opponents.

"And most of the men handling the ball in those early games will be inexperienced," said Robinson. "It's important our young players get off to a good start.

"But, despite having a new quarterback and tailback, we should be largely an experienced team. We don't have any dramatic holes like we did a year ago. We lost some great players, like Marcus Allen, who will be difficult to replace, but we replace them with new ones who can come in and give us a solid performance.

"Our challenge is this: We should be a good team, but can we develop into a championship caliber one? We had a good team last year, but we lost three games.

"Both on offense and defense, we need several people who played satisfactorily in 1981 to play brilliantly in 1982. Each of them must improve 15 to 20% for us to be successful."

Ranked No. 1 for three weeks early last season, the Trojans finished the year 9-3 with a disappointing 26-10 loss to Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl. They were ranked 13th and 14th in the final polls.

Among the six starters gone from that team are three first team All-Americans — including Allen, who won the Heisman Trophy and was the greatest single season rusher in NCAA history. Guard Roy Foster and linebacker Chip Banks, the team's leading tackler, were also All-Americans and defensive tackle Dennis Edwards was first team All-Pac-10.

Robinson welcomes back 16 starters, nine on offense and seven on defense. And heading the returnees are six first or second team All-Pac-10 players, including three pre-season All-Americans — offensive guard Bruce Matthews, offensive tackle Don Mosebar and nose guard George Achica.

The other returning all-conference players include center

CENTER TONY SLATON

LINEBACKER JACK DEL RIO

LINEBACKER AUGUST CURLEY

Tony Slaton, safety Joey Browner and linebacker Riki Gray, a 1981 injury redshirt. If Gray, who had knee surgery last year, can play, the Trojans will have 17 former starters.

OFFENSE

In Robinson's first four seasons at USC, the Trojans averaged 19 TD passes a year. In the last two they averaged only 10. The challenge will be to increase the potency of the passing game, while replacing Allen well enough to continue the great success of the running game.

The new quarterback will be Sean Salisbury, a 6-5½ sophomore who completed 9 of 15 passes for two scores as a backup freshman. He edged out returning starter John Mazur, also a sophomore (he didn't play as a 1980 freshman) in a torrid battle last spring. Mazur passed for 1,128 yards and 7 TD's last fall, completing 48% of his passes.

"The competition between Sean and John was as fierce as any I've ever seen on the practice field," said Robinson. "In fact, it may have been the making of Salisbury. He matured tremendously last spring, and, in time, will develop into a great quarterback. He has enormous potential and his future is unlimited.

"But Mazur is a proven quarterback who can still be a big factor on our team."

Three tailbacks start the season sharing the job, and all figure to see heavy action — sophomores Freddie Crutcher and Zep Lee and redshirt junior Michael Harper.

Crutcher ran for 268 yards, averaged 7.4 a carry and had touchdown runs of 11 and 18 yards as Allen's backup. Lee gained 105 yards and averaged 8.1.

Harper sat out the season after shoulder surgery, but he's the fastest (9.5 100) and most experienced tailback. He ran for 448 yards and a 5.3 average on 84 total carries in 1979 and 1980 and has already scored seven touchdowns (six by running). As a freshman, Harper had a 126-yard rushing day against Oregon State.

Last year's fullback surprise, Todd Spencer, is back, after running for 377 yards and a 6.1 average as a sophomore.

"Todd was a fine back as a sophomore," said Robinson, "and if he keeps improving like that, he'll be a great back. He has a very quick start and his blocking has improved dramatically."

Spencer is backed by ex-flanker John Kamana, a junior who was moved to fullback in the spring and looked very good there. But the Trojans could be without a potentially excellent sophomore, Michael Alo, who suffered a cervical sprain (neck sprain) in the spring and then broke his left ankle in the summer.

Robinson is looking for more consistency from his wide receivers, but there are several skilled players there, including the returning starters at split end and flanker, seniors Jeff Simmons and Timmy White. An honorable mention All-Pac-10 pick, Simmons last fall snagged 28 passes for 543 yards and a team-high 19.4 yards a catch. White has a 20-yard average on 11 career catches, including touchdown bombs of 50 and 59 yards.

Senior Malcolm Moore, who shared time with Simmons at split end, caught 15 passes for 230 yards and a 15.3 average last year, while sophomore flanker Timmie Ware (4 catches for an 18.8 average) is a young player with great promise.

The Trojans have excellent depth at tight end with three players who have seen action, including junior returning starter Fred Cornwell, and there's also an exciting redshirt freshman, Joe Cormier.

Cornwell, an excellent blocker, caught only three passes a year ago, but one of them was the seven-yarder that beat Oklahoma with two seconds left. Cormier has the speed and moves of a wide receiver.

In the offensive line USC has had 17 first team All-Americans in the last 18 years, and the Trojans have two more players of that caliber this year and a potential third in the future.

Both senior guard Bruce Matthews and senior tackle Don Mosebar were Playboy All-Americans this summer, after winning honorable mention AP All-American honors last fall. Matthews was first team All-Pac-10 and Mosebar second team All-Pac-10 and first team All-West Coast. Matthews is a three-year starter, while Mosebar has started for four.

Junior center Tony Slaton, meanwhile, was first team All-Pac-10 as a sophomore.

"Matthews and Mosebar should both be All-Americans," says Robinson. "They're outstanding athletes with great intelligence and great determination. Bruce is in the same mold as our recent All-American guards Roy Foster, Brad Budde and Pat Howell. And Don is definitely of the same quality as our recent All-American tackles Marvin Powell and Keith Van Horne.

"Slaton is still maturing physically, but he's on his way to being an All-American of the future. He'll really be a special player for us."

Matthews is the strongside guard. At weakside guard are co-starters Darryl Moore (co-starter at tackle last year) and Joe Murray, both seniors. Mosebar is the weakside tackle, while the strongside tackle is senior Kelly Thomas, who shared the job there last fall with Moore.

DEFENSE

"Our defense could be very good," says Robinson, as he welcomes back seven starters and possibly eight, if inside linebacker Riki Gray is healthy.

The defense starts at nose guard with pre-season All-American George Achica, a first team All-Pac-10 and AP second team All-American pick last fall. George was the Trojans' second leading tackler with 120, including eight for 54 yards in losses, and now has 27 tackles for a loss in his career, despite being double teamed much of the time. Last year he had six double-figure tackle games, topped by a high of 18 against Notre Dame, and he also broke up four passes and recovered a fumble.

A 10.4 sprinter in the 100-yard dash and champion heavyweight wrestler in high school, Achica saved USC's win over UCLA last year by blocking a field goal attempt on the game's last play.

"Achica comes off blocks as quickly as any man I've ever coached," says Robinson. "He's a natural football player who has great strength, excellent size and even better quickness. I see him as an All-American and one of the best defensive players ever at USC."

The Trojans are also solid at tackle with seniors Byron Darby and John Harvey the starters, and precocious sophomore Brian Luft considered a third starter for the position.

Darby was honorable mention All-Pac-10 as a 1980 sophomore, but fell off some last year when he missed four games with a severely sprained ankle. He still made 74 tackles, including seven for 29 yards in losses, broke up three passes and recovered a fumble. In three years Darby has 28 tackles for a loss. He moves to tackle from linebacker, where he played both inside and outside last year.

A backup last season as a JC transfer, Harvey brought down 34 ball carriers in only 63 minutes of action, recovered two fumbles and made three tackles for a loss.

And Luft as a freshman made 11 tackles in 40 minutes, including one for a loss, broke up a pass and blocked a Tennessee field goal in his first game.

Outside linebacker demands players who are fast and aggressive and USC has a great pair in sophomore Jack Del Rio, a returning starter, and junior Keith Browner.

As a freshman, Del Rio became a starter in the fifth game and led the team in tackles for a loss with 11 for 71 yards. Overall, he finished with 69 tackles and broke up three passes.

As a sophomore, Browner came off the bench to finish ninth on the defense in minutes played and a stunning fifth in tackles with 83. Included were four for a loss, and he also broke up six passes, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

"I've never had a freshman who had a better first year than Del Rio," said Robinson. "He's big, with remarkable agility for his size, and he's just loaded with that fierce defensive attitude you want."

"Browner is developing into a premier linebacker. He has outstanding size and speed, but above all, he's a natural football player."

The Trojans are very deep at inside linebacker, particularly if Gray, a three-year starter and former first team All-Pac-10 player can bounce back as a senior from serious knee surgery. He sat out last season. As a 1978 freshman Riki was third on the Trojans in tackles with 86, and as a 1979 sophomore he was second with 96.

USC is definitely set at one inside spot with senior August Curley, an honorable mention All-Pac-10 pick at outside backer last year. As a junior, the steady Curley was third on the team in tackles with 115, including seven for a loss, and also broke up six passes and intercepted another. He was in double figures in tackles in eight of the 12 games.

"We've moved Curley inside to fill a need for us and also to maximize his skills," says Robinson. "He's an intelligent player who's very solid fundamentally and very consistent — and we want him right in the middle of the action."

The other inside starter coming out of the spring was junior Vic Vaca, who might have started as a JC transfer last year, except for knee surgery that caused him to redshirt the season. Before going out, Vaca appeared briefly in two games and made seven tackles in 16 minutes, after making 122 tackles as a JC sophomore in 1980.

Included among the backup inside linebackers are two other players who each started three games last fall, sophomore Neil Hope and senior Tim Sullivan.

Blessed with tremendous speed, Hope made 52 tackles in 113 minutes as a freshman and was in double figures in all three of his starts, topped by a high of 15 against Washington. He also broke up three passes and recovered a fumble. Sullivan made 33 tackles, including one for a loss, and recovered a fumble.

The secondary returns three starters from last year, although two of them, senior safety Joey Browner and senior corner Troy West, have switched positions.

Browner, the older brother of Keith Browner, was second team All-Pac-10 at corner last fall and was all over the field. He led the secondary in pass deflections with 16, made 74 tackles, ran back three interceptions 41 yards and took a lateral 20 yards after another interception by West. He also returned 17 punts for an eight-yard average and led the defense in minutes played.

"We moved Joey to safety because of his great range and ability to play the ball in the air," said John Robinson.

"Our interception total fell off a lot last year and we want to get him as close to the ball as many times as possible. If he's comfortable at safety, he can be a contender for national honors."

West, now starting at corner, led the secondary in tackles as a safety last fall, making 93, which was fourth on the team. He also broke up nine passes, recovered a fumble, intercepted two passes and had four tackles for a loss. His late fourth-quarter interception against UCLA set up the Trojans' game-winning touchdown drive.

The other returning starter is senior safety Marv Williams, an ex-tailback who found a home in the secondary. Marv made 82 tackles last fall, broke up seven passes, intercepted two more, recovered a fumble and blocked a field goal against Washington State.

The fourth starter this year is sophomore corner Darrel Hopper, who missed half of last season with a fractured wrist and forearm. Hopper, who came off the bench to make a dozen tackles in 24 minutes of action, is a former Co-Los Angeles City Player of the Year.

Robinson feels he has six potential starters in his secondary, including sophomore corner Duaine Jackson (43 minutes, nine tackles, one fumble recovery and one pass deflection) and junior corner-safety Tony Brewer (22 minutes, 10 tackles).

KICKERS

USC has two excellent kickers. Senior Dave Pryor, in his fourth year as the punter, averaged 41.1 yards a kick last year and had just 15 of 50 punts returned for a net of 47 yards.

Sophomore placekicker Steve Jordan hit 11 of 17 field goals and 32 straight extra points as a freshman. He was seven-for-eight inside the 40 and had a long of 48 yards.

ORIGIN OF USC'S NICKNAME — TROJANS

USC's nickname, "Trojans," originated in 1912. Up to that time the University of Southern California teams were called the Methodists of Wesleyans, nicknames which were not looked upon with favor by university officials.

So, Warren Bovard, director of athletics and son of university president Dr. George Bovard, asked Los Angeles Times sports editor Owen Bird to select an appropriate nickname.

"At this time, the athletes and coaches of the university were under terrific handicaps," recalled Bird. "They were facing teams that were bigger and better-equipped, yet they had splendid fighting spirit. The name 'Trojans' fitted them.

"I came out with an article prior to a showdown between USC and Stanford in which I called attention to the fighting spirit of USC athletes and named them 'Trojans.' From then on, we used the term 'Trojan' all the time, and it stuck.

"The term 'Trojan' as applied to USC means to me that no matter what the situation, what the odds or what the conditions, the competition must be carried on to the end and those who strive must give all they have and never be weary in doing so."

QUARTERBACKS

(18) JIM ARRIVEY—6-5, 205, 22, Sr.

Arrivey made a strong bid for the starting quarterback job in the spring of 1981, but lost out to John Mazur and appeared in only two games, Tennessee and Oregon State, last season without throwing a pass. Tall and rangy, he has a strong arm.

"Jim wants to play as badly as any man on our team," says John Robinson, "and if he got a chance, he'd come up with a great effort. He has a lot of confidence in his ability and a lot of charisma."

Arrivey appeared in the Minnesota and Cal games in 1979 and 1980, respectively, and, against Cal, he directed a 58-yard, 11-play touchdown drive — all on the ground — for the Trojans' final score in the 60-7 victory. In the march he scrambled for three yards and a first down on a third-and-one play.

Redshirted in 1978, Jim came to USC from Shorecrest High in Seattle where he was an outstanding three-sport star. As a senior he led the Metropolitan League in passing, throwing for 1,200 yards and 12 TD's. He directed the team to an 8-2 record, was named the all-conference quarterback and had a best game of 14-for-26 for 220 yards.

For the basketball team Jim broke the school rebounding record, averaged 16 points a game and captained a squad that went 18-6. In track he high jumped 6-5.

A public administration major, Arrivey says his favorite pastime is "fishing," and cites his biggest sports thrill as "catching a four-pound rainbow trout." He's also got a sense of humor. "I came to USC," he says, "because I liked Julie's clam chowder." (Julie's is an off campus restaurant that is a legendary USC hangout.)

Arrivey speaks for all backup quarterbacks when he says, "The worst part of being a reserve is practicing all week and then not being able to play on Saturday. In my whole life I never had to sit around before."

(11) JOHN MAZUR—6-3, 200, 20, So.

Although he had never played a down for USC going into last season, Mazur won the quarterback job and guided the Trojans to a 9-3 record, including a dramatic, come-from-behind victory over Oklahoma.

Lefthanded like ex-USC All-American Paul McDonald, John fired 7 touchdown passes, completed 93 of 194 attempts for 1,128 yards, hit 48% of his passes and threw only 5 interceptions. In fact, he went through his first 62 passes without an interception and threw only 1 in his first 138 attempts.

He had come to USC in 1980 and was a non-playing backup to Gordon Adams as a freshman. When the NCAA made its new redshirt rule for freshmen retroactive, John had his eligibility for that year restored.

Last spring he waged an intense fight with fellow sophomore Sean Salisbury for the No. 1 job, and it was Salisbury who came out of the spring as No. 1.

"John played very well for us as a first year quarterback," said John Robinson. "He brings outstanding leadership skills to the position, and his battle with Salisbury last spring was as fierce as any I've ever seen on the practice field.

"He's a proven quarterback who will still be a big factor on our team this year."

Mazur was brilliant against Oklahoma last season in a game that at that time matched the nation's No. 1 team (USC) against No. 2 (Oklahoma). The Sooners led, 24-14, with 13 minutes left, but John directed successive TD drives of 74 and 78 yards and calmly threw for the winning touchdown with two seconds left in the game.

To win it 28-24, he scrambled to his left and fired a 7-yard pass to tight end Fred Cornwell in the end zone. On the two drives the young lefthander completed 6 of 12 passes (and had two dropped) and wound up 13-for-25 for the game with two TD's. He also drilled a 2-yard scoring throw to flanker John Kamana with 42 seconds left in the first half.

In addition, the 6-3 Mazur threw a pair of TD passes against Oregon State and had three 50-yard completions during the season, including a perfectly thrown touchdown pass to flanker Timmy White against Tennessee. His top game for yardage was 175 on a 10-of-19 day against Stanford, including an 8-yard scoring throw.

Mazur came to USC from El Camino Real High in Woodland Hills, where he was a Parade All-American and first team All-Los Angeles City choice. As a senior he led El Camino to a 9-1 record, reaching the City semifinals, and completed 79 of 186 passes (42.5%) for 1,354 yards and 10 touchdowns. He had scoring bombs of 67 and 65 yards.

John's best game came against rival Granada Hills, when he threw for 331 yards and 3 TD's, including four straight completions to drive his team 90 yards in the final minute and a half for the win. He also passed for over 1,000 yards and 9 touchdowns as a junior and was an All-Valley League pick as a pitcher and first baseman.

As a student, Mazur has a B average in biological sciences and is studying to be a dentist. He lists his favorite pastimes as "jogging, swimming and going to the beach."

(7) SEAN SALISBURY—6-5½, 210, 19, So.

A unanimous high school All-American, Salisbury backed up John Mazur as a freshman and then beat out Mazur in an intense fight for the quarterback job last spring. Although he appeared in only three games last year, he has the coaching staff very excited.

"Sean has enormous potential and his future is unlimited," says John Robinson. "He has almost the perfect physical dimensions for a quarterback and he's a very gifted athlete. He can throw the ball hard on a line and yet also has excellent touch, and he's got a great instinct to avoid the pass rush. I believe he also has that intangible quality that all great quarterbacks have.

"The competition between he and Mazur last spring was as fierce as any I've ever seen on the practice field. It may, in fact, have been the making of Sean. He matured tremendously last spring and, in time, will develop into a great quarterback."

In his brief play as a freshman, Salisbury showed flashes of his potential, coming off the bench to hit 9 of 15 passes (60%) for two touchdowns and 145 yards. His scoring passes were both to reserve tight end Mark Boyer, going 3 yards (Tennessee) and 5 yards (Oregon State). The touchdown drives were 56 and 78 yards.

Sean also completed 5 of 8 passes for 79 yards against Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl, including three in a row to move USC 46 yards to the Nittany Lion two-yard line as the game ended. (The Trojans lost, 26-10.)

At Orange Glen High in Escondido (near San Diego), Salisbury completed 49.6% of his passes for 2,913 yards and 24 touchdowns as a junior and senior, with 17 of the TD's and 1,743 of the yards coming in his junior year. He threw for more than 200 yards five times in his career and was named to the Parade, Scholastic Coach and National High School Football Coaches Association All-American teams. He was also San Diego County Player of the Year in 1979 and a two-time All-CIF San Diego County choice.

A very versatile athlete, Salisbury made the All-CIF San Diego County and All-Palomar League teams as a basketball player as a junior and senior and hit .300 as an outfielder and pitched for the baseball team. He also averaged 38.4 yards as the football team's punter.

"What I'd like to do some time in my USC career," says Salisbury, "is play all three sports — football, basketball and baseball — just to show that it can be done at a major university. It's been a goal of mine for some time. I've played every position but second base in baseball, although I like center field the best now. As for basketball, I could be a swing man between forward and guard."

Sean is also excited about the challenge of being the No. 1 quarterback. "I like competition," he says. "In fact, I think I thrive on it. Competition and pressure. I think I'm in the right place."

A broadcast journalism major, Salisbury says he enjoys "golf, basketball, reading and eating" in his spare time. His biggest sports heroes are Joe Namath and Stanford quarterback John Elway, who, he says, "is a great player and a good person to pattern yourself after."

(15) SCOTT TINSLEY—6-2, 195, 23, Sr.

Tinsley appeared in every game in 1981 as the holder for placekicker Steve Jordan, but threw passes as a quarterback only in the opener against Tennessee. He competed for the No. 1 job in the spring of 1980, losing out to Gordon Adams, and then was in a three-way fight with Jim Arrivey and John Mazur in the spring of 1981 that Mazur won.

But Scott will never forget the late 1980 season when he started against UCLA and Notre Dame and led the Trojans to an upset of the unbeaten Irish. Adams had gone out for the season with torn knee ligaments against Washington, leaving Tinsley to play the second half of that game.

Then against UCLA — when the Trojans lost 20-17 on a late touchdown bomb — Scott completed 15 of 27 passes for 146 yards and a 12-yard touchdown throw to Jeff Simmons. In a desperate bid to win, he also drove his team 51 yards to the Bruin 29 in the last two minutes before time ran out.

Against Notre Dame (a 20-3 USC win), Tinsley completed 4 of 5 passes for 24 yards and directed TD drives of 31 and 70 yards as USC outgained the unbeaten Irish, 212-120.

"Scott played very well for us in 1980," says John Robinson, "and I know he would be ready to lead our team if called upon. He's a natural leader who understands the game thoroughly."

Besides his play at the end of the 1980 season, Tinsley that year also threw two TD passes in the 60-7 rout of California, a 59-yarder to flanker Timmy White and a 10-yarder to tailback Michael Harper. He was also the holder on placekicks all of 1980 and most of 1979.

In 1979 Scott completed 6 of 10 passes for 88 yards and a TD and produced 44 and 79-yard scoring drives against Minnesota. He was redshirted as a 1978 freshman.

Tinsley had a great career at Putnam City West High in Oklahoma City, making three All-American teams (Parade, Scholastic Coach, National High School Coaches). He led his team into the Oklahoma Class 4-A finals for two straight years, completing 271 of 571 passes for 3,980 yards and 31 TD's as a junior and senior. He also ran for 13 touchdowns. In his senior year alone, Tinsley completed 165 of 311 passes (53%) for 2,278 yards and 19 TD's.

As a basketball player, Scott averaged 15.7 and 17 points a game his last two years as a guard and was All-Oklahoma City. He was also a two-year all-city choice in baseball, batting over .350 both years.

Born in Oklahoma City, Tinsley is a business major at USC who says he enjoys "water skiing and raccoon hunting," then adds, "I don't kill the raccoons. I just run 'em." He kids about his home state. "I tell people Oklahoma is not bad," he says. "The only problem is the transportation. To get back you have to fly from L.A. to Denver and then take a stagecoach home."

TAILBACKS

(49) FRED CRUTCHER—5-10, 195, 19, So.

As a freshman in 1981, Crutcher was the backup tailback to Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen. He's got a very bright future.

"Fred has the kind of ability and temperament to be the USC tailback," says coach John Robinson. "He's in the Anthony Davis, Charlie White mold physically and in running style."

"He has good speed and runs with great vision and aggressiveness, and he's also developing rapidly as a receiver."

Crutcher's top games as a freshman came early in the 1981 season, as he ran for 65 yards on 9 carries against Tennessee, 61 on 10 tries against Indiana, 56 on 7 carries against Oregon State and 42 on 3 tries against Arizona. His long run was a 33-yard burst against Arizona, and he also ran 11 and 18 yards for touchdowns against Indiana and Oregon State. He averaged 7.4 yards on his 36 carries. Against Oregon State he had a 56-yard kickoff return to set up a TD.

As a senior at Blair High in Pasadena, Crutcher led the CIF Southern Section in rushing and scoring with 1,833 regular season yards and 27 touchdowns. That year he was a Scholastic Coach All-American pick and also All-CIF Division II, All San Gabriel Valley and Football League MVP. He rushed for 375 yards in only three quarters against Glendale Hoover. As a sophomore and junior he was All-Foothill League, both at running back and defensive back.

An undecided major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Crutcher says he came to USC, "because it has the best football program in America." He says he enjoys listening to music and still winces about a game in high school when he looked the wrong way and ran into the goal post.

(24) ANTHONY GIBSON—5-11, 190, 20, Sr.

Gibson was once offered an academic scholarship to Harvard, but turned it down to come to USC where he's an industrial engineering major. He's also an experienced, steady reserve tailback who has a career average of almost 5 yards on 83 carries.

He and Michael Harper shared the tailback job for the injured Marcus Allen in the upset of unbeaten Notre Dame in 1980, with Gibson hammering out 68 yards on 19 carries with a long of 15 yards. He was the Trojans' third leading rusher that season with 226 yards, a 4.9 average and carries in 8 of the 11 games.

In 1981 he ran for 71 yards on 20 carries, and back in 1979 as a freshman he ran for 112 on 17 tries, averaged 6.6 and had long runs of 33 and 19 yards. Against Minnesota in 1979 he ran for 65 yards on only 6 carries.

"Anthony is a proven football player," says John Robinson. "He's only had limited opportunity to this point, but has always played efficiently and well when called upon. He missed half of spring ball with a sprained ankle but is still competitive at tailback."

Gibson is another in a long line of great San Fernando High runners to come to USC (including ex-Trojan All-Americans Charlie White and Anthony Davis). A Scholastic Coach All-American and first team All-Los Angeles City pick at San Fernando, he ran for 1,066 yards and an 11.8 average as a senior, including a 92-yard TD run. He also ran a 9.6 100 for the track team and lettered in basketball.

Gibson had the highest grade point average on his football team at San Fernando which led to the scholarship offer by Harvard.

"I had already signed a letter of intent to go to USC when I took a recruiting trip to Harvard," he said. "I still could have gone there because Harvard doesn't give athletic scholarships, only academic ones.

"When I went to Harvard I was pretty sure I wouldn't enroll there, but I wanted to expose myself to that environment. I was impressed by the school, and, when I returned home, I actually considered going.

"I wanted to play football at USC, though, because I knew if I made it here, I could make it anywhere. And this school offered me the best opportunity for growth in all areas of my life."

In his spare time, Gibson says he enjoys "traveling, playing racquetball, backgammon and fine dining."

(36) MICHAEL HARPER—5-11, 185, 21, Jr.

On his first college carry in 1979, Harper sprinted 47 yards to the Oregon State five-yard line. As a sophomore in 1980 he was named USC's most valuable player by ABC-TV in the Trojans' 20-3 upset of unbeaten Notre Dame. But in 1981 he did nothing but watch, an injury redshirt because of spring shoulder surgery. Now he looks forward to a big junior season.

"Michael is the fastest USC tailback since O.J. Simpson," says John Robinson, "and a really great breakaway threat. His lack of size has limited his endurance in the past, but he's bigger and stronger now and I think ready for an outstanding season."

Last spring Harper ran a 4.45 40, the fastest on the team and seems as fast or faster than he was at Hickman Mills High in Kansas City. There he ran a 9.5 100 and 48.5 440.

Michael had gotten off to a great start in 1980 as Marcus Allen's backup, gaining 63 yards on 11 carries against Tennessee, 43 on 9 against South Carolina and 74 on 9 with a 30-yard run against Minnesota. He also had a 60-yard kickoff return against South Carolina. But he cracked some ribs against Minnesota and sat out the next three games.

He was back to full strength by the Notre Dame game, and, sharing the job of tailback with Anthony Gibson for the injured Allen, Harper ran for 87 yards on 20 carries, scored both USC touchdowns on 6 and 10-yard bursts, caught a pass for 5 yards and returned two punts and two kickoffs. That season he was USC's No. 2 rusher with 274 yards and a 5-yard average.

As a 1979 freshman, Harper's totals were 174 yards and a 6-yard average. Against Oregon State he ran for 126 yards and scored twice.

As a senior at Hickman Mills High in Kansas City, Harper rushed for 2,318 yards, averaged 7.7 a carry, returned nine punts for a 17.5 average and seven kickoffs for a 36.5 average, and scored 33 touchdowns. He was All-State in Missouri and also All-American (Scholastic Coach, Parade teams). He had six 200-yard games, including one of 348 in the rain, scored six TD's in a single game and ran a 10.4 100 meters.

A thoughtful young man and a marketing major, Harper says he came to USC from Kansas City, "because most athletic, academic and social opportunities were offered here and I was looking for a university that could offer me several avenues for enhancing my life."

He says he admires the late Bruce Lee for his discipline and the Chicago Bears' Walter Payton for his style. His favorite pastimes are "music, car care and socializing."

Asked once for his athletic goals at USC, Harper said: "I'm simply determined to be as successful as I can be. I want to get anything that it's possible for me to get. I'm not putting any limits on my expectations."

(34) ZEPHRINI LEE—6-2½, 204, 19, So.

As a freshman tailback, Zephryni — or Zep — Lee burst through right tackle for 19 yards against Tennessee on his first college carry. On his third he ran 54 yards to the Vol seven-yard line. All in all, he gained 81 yards on only 6 carries that night, and, although he saw limited action after that, John Robinson has seen enough to rave about his impressive looking sophomore.

"Zep is a Ricky Bell type of tailback," says Robinson, "tall, strong and he runs with great aggression. In fact, he's one of the most determined players I've ever coached. His experience as a runner has been limited, but he's learning very fast. He has a great future."

Lee lacks experience as a runner, because he played tight end at San Francisco's Lincoln High until his senior year when he was moved to fullback and responded with 1,242 yards on 205 carries (6.1 average). He also averaged nine tackles a game and intercepted five passes as a linebacker.

As a senior, Lee was named the Academic Athletic Association's Player of the Year, All-Northern California and San Francisco Progress City Player of the Year. He also played basketball and ran a 10.0 100-yard dash for the track team.

A pre-dental major, Zep says his favorite hobbies away from football are "reading, listening to music, dancing, attending the theater and crabbing."

FULLBACKS

(46) MICHAEL ALO—5-11, 230, 20, So.

Michael is a player with great potential whose short career has been ruined so far by injuries. He goes into the season as a questionable participant this fall, because of a cervical (neck) sprain last spring and then a broken left ankle in the summer.

As a freshman, Alo carried just 5 times for 13 yards, as he was plagued mainly by a severely pulled hamstring.

"Michael has enormous gifts and a great attitude about football," said John Robinson. "He was very unlucky last year, as injuries almost destroyed his first season, and he's had more bad luck since. If he's healthy, he can be an outstanding fullback."

At Banning High Alo was the Co-Los Angeles City Player of the Year in both 1979 and 1980, as he rushed for 1,932 yards, averaged 6.8 yards a carry and scored 23 touchdowns in his three-year career at fullback. He also caught 16 passes for 309 yards and 4 more TD's, averaged 36.9 yards as the team's punter, and was a devastating blocker.

Michael played linebacker on defense and was honored as a senior as an All-American on the Parade, Scholastic Coach and National High School Football Coaches Association teams.

He finished his senior year with 784 yards, an 8-yard average and 10 touchdowns. He missed the first three and a half games of that season, after suffering a broken arm in a summer auto accident, but took off his cast at halftime of the fourth and sparked Banning to a second half comeback and 14-13 win over Long Beach Poly.

Banning was 34-2 and won three straight City championships in Alo's three years there, and his coach, Chris Ferragamo, said of him: "Michael could have made the All-City team at any position."

In the spring, Alo joined the track team and was a two-time City shot put champion, winning in his senior year with a throw of 59-0½. His combined football-track talents won him the 1981 Hertz California Prep Athlete of the Year award.

Youngest of eight children, Alo was born in San Pedro (Calif.). He's a Samoan with several relatives in Hawaii, and USC had to out-fight the University of Hawaii, among others, to get him. He says his favorite enjoyment away from football is "being with my mom and dad and family."

(26) JOHN KAMANA—6-3, 220, 20, Jr.

As USC's "V-back," or blocking flanker, last year, Kamana was eighth on the offense in minutes played with 274. But USC needed help at fullback, and so John wound up there last spring. He was one of the biggest surprises on the team.

"John had a very good spring at fullback," said John Robinson. "I expected him to be a good blocker at the position, but he appears to be a good runner as well. As he learns the position, he'll be a very fine player there for us."

Used mostly as a blocker last season, Kamana caught only 2 passes at flanker, but both came in the dramatic 28-24 defeat of Oklahoma. One was a 2-yarder for a touchdown and the other was a 15-yarder on another TD drive.

As a freshman in 1980, John played on all the kickoff and punt teams, seeing 37 minutes of action and making 5 tackles.

Born in Honolulu, Hawaii, Kamana was a three-sport star at Punahou High in that city and a tremendously versatile player in football. He was an All-Hawaii flanker as a sophomore and running back as a junior, before a leg injury wiped out most of his senior season. In his first game at tailback as a junior he ran for 200 yards, and, playing just half a season there after switching from flanker, averaged 8.4 yards a carry and was third in the league in rushing. He also played corner, safety and in the defensive line on defense.

In basketball, Kamana was also All-Hawaii for two years at forward and led his team to two straight league titles. In track he was the state champ in the 100 and 200-meter dashes as a sophomore and junior. He ran 100 yards in 9.8 and 100 meters in 10.7.

A public administration major at USC, Kamana says he enjoys "body surfing, volleyball, basketball, relaxing with music and being with friends." His nickname, the same as his father's, is "Squeeze." Why?

"Ah, Squeeze," says Kamana, "that was handed down from my grandfather. The story goes that he couldn't af- ford lunch when he was going to school, so he struck a deal with some of the girls in the yard at lunchtime. If they would share their lunches with him, he would reciprocate with a little hug and a squeeze."

Besides picking up an interesting nickname, Kamana also learned to dance the hula, the ancient dance of the Hawaiian Islands. "It's much tougher than you might imagine," he says. "You've got to stay low and keep your back straight. You do it right and even blocking an Oklahoma guy doesn't seem quite so demanding. Honestly, I think the hula has helped me become a better blocker."

Kamana's father, John, was a walk-on Trojan player in the mid-1950's, and his twin brother, Carter, is a defensive back at Michigan State.

(31) BOB McCLANAHAN — 6-0, 210, 21, Sr.

One of the quicker fullbacks around, McClanahan has never lost a yard on 49 carries at USC, and brings a 6.1 career average into the season. He shared the starting fullback job with Todd Spencer in the first half of 1981, until Spencer took over as No. 1.

McClanahan — who is the nephew of retired Minnesota Viking running back Brent McClanahan — was USC's fourth leading rusher last year, running for 183 yards and averaging 5.6 a carry. He scored against Oregon State on a 5-yard run, and chipped in with 41 yards on only 4 carries in the big win over Washington State, including a 21-yard run.

"Bob has very good quickness," says John Robinson, "and as his strength has improved, he's become a better blocker. He's been a steady, efficient player for us."

In 1980 McClanahan scored against Cal on a 19-yard burst up the middle, and the next week against Stanford he came off the bench to score from 21 yards out. Late that season, McClanahan and Thomas Jefferson (now gone from USC) shared the fullback job in the 20-3 upset of Notre Dame, with Bob running for 47 yards on 7 carries. As a 1979 freshman he carried twice for 16 yards.

Another in the long line of excellent running backs to come from San Fernando High to USC, McClanahan was a teammate of USC tailback Anthony Gibson. As a senior, Bob was a second team All-Los Angeles City pick, rushing for 1,053 yards and an 8.7 average. He also scored 13 touchdowns and had a 236-yard rushing day against Taft.

A public administration major, McClanahan says he enjoys "dancing, watching TV, going to the movies and traveling around the state." He says learning to block has been his biggest challenge.

"I hardly ever blocked anyone in high school," he says, "because we ran the Wishbone and all I ever did was carry the ball or fake."

"On one of my first plays at a USC practice, I had to block (ex-All-American) Chip Banks and BAM! I got knocked down. It was one of those 'Welcome to college football' kind of hits. I learned fast that you definitely get headaches from blocking."

(23) TODD SPENCER—5-11½, 195, 20, Jr.

Early in 1981, USC had a "committee" playing fullback, as many as three players sharing the job. By the end of the year, Todd Spencer stood alone as No. 1. Quick and elusive as a runner, he wound up as the Trojans' second leading rusher with 377 yards and a 6.1 average.

"Todd was a fine back as a sophomore," says an enthusiastic John Robinson. "If he keeps getting better, he'll be a great back. He has a very quick start and his blocking has improved dramatically. "His all-around ability — runner, blocker, receiver — reminds me a lot of Lynn Cain."

The starting fullback for USC in 1978, Cain ran for 977 yards that year and has gone on to start for the Atlanta Falcons.

Spencer did most of his damage in 1981 down the stretch, running for 74 yards on 7 carries against Notre Dame, 72 in 10 tries against Washington State, 69 on 9 carries against Cal and his high, 86 on a dozen carries against UCLA. Against Notre Dame, Spencer not only ran 27 yards to the Irish 14 to set up the first USC touchdown, but came back to burst 26 for the winning TD with only 4:52 left in the 14-7 game.

In the come-from-behind win against UCLA, Todd alternated with Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen on the winning 39-yard, six-play drive for the winning TD which came with only 2:14 left. Spencer ran for 22 of the 39 yards on three carries. He also returned 11 kickoffs last season for a 17.7 average and caught 4 passes for 33 yards.

As a freshman tailback in 1980, Spencer carried the ball only twice for seven yards, but was moved to fullback in the spring of 1981.

Todd came to USC from El Cerrito High near Berkeley, where he was picked on the Scholastic Coach and Parade All-American teams, along with the All-Northern California squad.

In three years he ran for 3,666 yards and scored 37 touchdowns, setting school records for career rushing yardage, season touchdowns and points and career and season total offense. He had four 200-yard games, including 248 yards and three touchdowns on a rainy day.

A public administration major, Spencer was born in Portland, Ore., and is the son of ex-heavyweight boxing contender Thad Spencer. "But boxing was never for me," he says. "I just never liked getting hit in the face. I've never even gone to a professional fight. I guess I like to take out my aggressions on the football field."

WIDE RECEIVERS

(81) TODD DELLUTRI—6-0, 175, 19, Fr.

Redshirted in 1981, Dellutri still has four years of eligibility remaining. He came to USC as the leading receiver in the history of Burbank Burroughs High, where he grabbed 94 passes for 1,785 yards and 19 touchdowns his last two seasons alone, averaging 19 yards a catch.

In both 1979 and 1980, Dellutri was named to the All-CIF Division II first team, along with winning All-San Fernando Valley and All-Foothill League honors. He was honorable mention All-American on the Scholastic Coach team as a senior. His best game as a receiver included 8 catches for 168 yards and 3 touchdowns.

A business major with a B average (3.08 GPA), Todd says he likes snow skiing and cites teammate Joey Browner in practice as the toughest player he's faced to date. His real first name is David, although he goes by his middle name.

(22) MALCOLM MOORE—6-5, 205, 21, Sr.

An alternate at split end with Jeff Simmons, Moore caught passes in nine straight games in one stretch last season, finishing with 15 for a 15.3 average. Included in his 15 receptions was a spectacular 14-yarder for a TD against Oregon State when he caught the ball at the three, was hit by a tackler, and turned and lunged into the end zone.

"Malcolm can be a big factor on our team this year," said John Robinson. "He, like so many other seniors, must come up with a great senior year for us to be successful. The potential is there. In the past I think he's occasionally lacked focus, but I'm confident about his determination this year."

Moore's top game in receptions last year was 3 for 40 yards (Arizona), but he also caught 2 passes in four other games, including Oklahoma. In that game he took the ball away from a Sooner defensive back for a big 19-yard gain that set up the Trojans' second touchdown with USC behind 17-7 and time running out in the first half. The play put the ball on the Oklahoma two.

As a 1980 sophomore, Moore caught passes in seven different games, winding up with 8 total for a 16.8 average. As a freshman he played on the kicking teams and snagged 4 passes for an 18.6 average, including 3 against Minnesota. One of them was a spectacular, one-handed grab for 20 yards.

Malcolm is the youngest of four football-playing brothers, including ex-Trojan fullback Manfred and ex-Trojan safety Kenney.

The latest Moore, like his brothers, played at San Fernando High, where he made three All-American teams as a senior in 1978 (Coach & Athlete, Parade, Scholastic Coach) and was a two-time All-Los Angeles City pick. Playing both split end and tight end, Malcolm snagged 32 passes as a senior for 805 yards (25.1 average) and 13 TD's on a Wishbone team that threw only 111 times.

A public administration major, Moore says he enjoys traveling and claims he once caught a ball with his feet.

(16) BILL NILES—6-1, 185, 19, Fr.

A redshirt freshman, Niles came to USC in the fall of 1981 as a walk-on from Santa Monica High, where he was an outstanding receiver and defensive back. He was a gift to the Trojans, because his father, Edward, is an associate professor of architecture at the University, which means Bill's tuition is free.

As a senior at Santa Monica in 1980, Niles was a second team All-CIF Division II pick as a safety. He had 5 interceptions and caught 35 passes for over 700 yards and 9 touchdowns in the regular season. In a playoff win over Channel Islands, he added another 8 catches for 205 yards and 4 more touchdowns. He was also an All-Bay League pick.

Niles also played volleyball for three years at Santa Monica and made the All-CIF and All-Bay League teams in that sport, too. An undeclared major at USC, he says his favorite pastime is playing beach volleyball.

(25) FRANCIS RODRIGUEZ—6-2, 190, 22, Jr.

A JC All-American in 1981, Rodriguez came to USC with high hopes but missed most of spring practice with a pulled hamstring muscle. He looks like a player to watch, however.

Playing for El Camino College last fall, Rodriguez was not only first team All-American, All-State and All-Metropolitan Conference, but he was the state's third leading receiver with 60 catches for 1,020 yards, a 17-yard average and 11 touchdowns. He also caught a pair of two-point conversion passes for a total of 70 points. And his high game was 10 catches for 197 yards and 3 touchdowns.

As a freshman for El Camino in 1980, Rodriguez was also a first team All-Metropolitan League pick, as he snagged 40 passes for 673 yards and one score, averaging 16.8 a catch.

Francis didn't play football at Hawthorne High, starring in basketball and baseball instead and winning all-league honors. He was a forward and center in basketball and a shortstop in baseball and was named his team's MVP in both sports.

A business administration major at USC, Rodriguez says he enjoys surfing and riding a motorcycle.

(29) JEFF SIMMONS—6-3, 195, 22, Sr.

Second only to Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen in team catches last fall, Simmons snagged 28 for 543 yards and a team-high 19.4 yards a catch. He was named honorable mention All-Pac-10 and in 1980 and 1981 caught passes in 21 of USC's 23 games.

He was a very instrumental player in the dramatic come-from-behind win over Oklahoma, catching 3 passes for 50 yards and 1 for 26 on the Trojans' two straight fourth quarter TD drives that pulled out the 28-24 victory. He also caught a total of 4 passes against Oregon

State and Stanford and 5 for 74 in the 41-17 rout of unbeaten Washington State.

"Jeff is another of those seniors who can and must have a great year for us to succeed," says John Robinson. "At times he's performed at the very highest level, both as a receiver and a blocker, but at other times he's been inconsistent. I'm hopeful he'll have a great senior year."

Simmons swears that one of his biggest heroes is "Spider-man," and, like his idol, he's often done things in a spectacular way. In 1981 he caught only one TD pass — an eight-yarder from John Mazur against Oregon State — but he caught four big ones as a sophomore in 1980.

Included in his scoring grabs that year were a diving, over-the-shoulder, 38-yard catch for the only USC TD in a 7-7 tie with Oregon; a leaping, 15-yard catch against Arizona State; a 36-yarder against Washington and a 12-yard, just-inside-the-end-zone catch against UCLA.

Jeff's 21 receptions for 309 yards in 1980 ranked him second on the team, while as a freshman in 1979 he caught only one pass for a yard, but it went for a touchdown against Minnesota. He was redshirted his first year in 1978.

Last spring was the first time he made it all the way through practice, with a broken finger (1979), fractured scapula (back of the shoulder, 1980) and broken collarbone (1981) ruining his previous springs.

Simmons came to USC from Edison High in Stockton, where he set a school career receiving record with 89 catches in two years. He was All-City and All-San Joaquin Athletic Association in both football and basketball, averaging 21.5 points a game as a senior in basketball and being named Player of the Year in that sport in his league and in Stockton.

A business major, Simmons has a brother, Kevin, who plays forward on Washington State's basketball team. He lists his favorite pastimes away from football as "listening to music; playing basketball; spending time with my girlfriend, Brenda; reading the Bible and having a good heated conversation."

Outgoing and enthusiastic, Simmons is in his fifth year at USC and says, "I've been here so long I have to dye my hair every day with Grecian Formula 16."

He's shared time with Malcolm Moore at split end the last two seasons and says of that: "We're very different types of receivers, and we complement each other's styles. He's a very physical, aggressive person, and I'm more of an artful dodger. We both know, though, that if we slack off, the other guy can come in and really play well."

(19) TIMMIE WARE—5-11, 165, 19, So. *

The backup to Timmy White at flanker, Ware brings a lot of speed to USC's wide receiver corps. At Centennial High in Compton (Calif.), he ran the 100-yard dash in 9.7, the 200 meters in 21.4, the 400 meters in 48.1 and long jumped 23 feet. He ran for the USC track team last spring before football practice started and zipped the 400 meters in 47.69.

Ware was a freshman on the football team in the fall of 1981, seeing just 16 minutes of action, but most of that came in the Fiesta Bowl, where he snagged 4 passes for 75 yards, including a pair of 21-yard gains. He's got potential for an exciting future.

"Timmie has great speed and outstanding hands," says John Robinson. "He can be a big play receiver for us, and we need for him to make fast progress along that line. I think he'll contribute a great deal to our team this year."

At Centennial in 1980, Ware caught a school-record 44 passes for 1,014 yards and 9 touchdowns as a senior, snagging 12 for 276 yards and three scores in one game alone. He also returned kickoffs an average of 27 yards and played safely on defense. He won first team All-Bay League and All-South Coast honors. Centennial's 1600-meter relay team that he ran on in the spring of 1980 set a national record.

An undeclared major, Timmie is an active young man. "I enjoy singing, diving and drawing," he says, "and also camping at Yosemite, bear hunting and fishing."

He can also laugh at himself. Asked for humorous incidents that happened to him on the field, Ware wrote, "diving for a pass that was 10 feet over my head, running into a goal post, and falling down on the one-yard line with no one around me."

(6) TIMMY WHITE—5-11½, 185, 22, Sr.

One of the fastest wide receivers around — he ran 9.6 in the 100 in high school and had an unofficial 9.4 — White is USC's deep threat. He caught a 50-yard scoring bomb from John Mazur in the rout of Tennessee last fall and snagged a 59-yard scoring pass from Scott Tinsley as a sophomore against Cal.

And Timmy not only has fast legs, but a strong arm. An All-American high school quarterback, he took the ball on a reverse from Marcus Allen against UCLA last fall, stopped and fired a perfect, 48-yard pass to Jeff Simmons at the Bruin seven to set up a touchdown.

"Timmy not only has speed," says John Robinson, "but he has that extra last-second burst to the ball that makes him such a great deep threat. However, we haven't yet seen him perform at the level he's capable of. He's another senior who can and must have a great final year for us."

"Timmy at his best can make dazzling plays, and I'm confident he'll have a great senior year."

The starting flanker, White goes into his senior year with only 11 catches as a Trojan, but his average is 20.0 a catch. Besides his two scoring bombs, he also caught an 8-yarder for a TD against Stanford in 1981, going high to pluck the pass out of the air.

Redshirted in 1978 as a quarterback, White moved to wide receiver and played 4 minutes as a backup in 1979 without catching a pass, got a shot at quarterback again in the spring of 1980, then went back to wide receiver for the 1980 season.

He was an All-American quarterback (Coach & Athlete and Parade teams) at Asbury Park High in South Belmar, N.J. There he rushed for 740 yards (8.2 average), scored 8 TD's (one a 93-yard run) and completed 30 of 67 passes as a senior. In one game he ran for 240 yards, including scoring jaunts of 80 and 90 yards.

As a trackman he was Central Jersey champion in the 100 and 220, state indoor champ in the 60 and Eastern States champ in the 220, all in 1978. He had official clockings of 9.6 in the 100, 21.3 in the 220 and 48.3 in the 440, anchoring his school's mile relay team to a state record.

A psychology major at USC, Timmy enjoys "reading, playing drums and practicing martial arts" in his spare time. "I've played the drums since I was about four years old," he says, "and started playing in groups in grammar school. I was hoping to major in music at USC, but the class schedules prevented me from doing that and playing football."

"So I settled on psychology. I'd like to be a specialist for athletes and musicians. I enjoy helping others."

This year for the first time Timmy will team up with his brother, Lonnie, who followed him from New Jersey to become a freshman wide receiver.

TIGHT ENDS

(86) MARK BOYER—6-4, 230, 20, So.

Boyer caught only two passes in 1981, but both went for touchdowns, as he teamed up with Sean Salisbury for 3 and 5-yard scoring catches against Tennessee and Oregon State, respectively. He saw a total of 19 minutes of action as a reserve tight end.

"Mark has good size and good hands," said John Robinson, "and continues to improve."

Boyer didn't play in 1980, but had his eligibility restored for that year by the new freshman redshirt rule which is retroactive. He came to USC that fall from Edison High where he joined with standout teammates Kerwin Bell and Frank Seurer to lead a 12-2 team to the Sunset League crown and CIF Big Five title in 1979. Boyer grabbed a school-record 48 passes for 707 yards and 9 TD's (another Edison record) and was named Sunset League Receiver of the Year.

Mark was also named to the Coach & Athlete All-American team and also won All-California and All-Orange County honors. A good athlete, he played safety as a senior and was the quarterback of Edison's freshman and sophomore teams.

In fact, as a junior, when Seurer was injured in the opener, Boyer took over as the varsity quarterback and led the team to eight straight wins, hitting 49 of 96 passes (51%) for 692 yards and 7 touchdowns.

A business administration major, Mark enjoys "reading the Bible, skiing and going to the beach." Last June he married the former Janna Osterkamp. Asked to name the toughest players he's faced in football, he listed USC's other tight ends, Fred Cornwell, Joe Cormier and Pat McCool.

	REC	YDS	AVG	TD	Long
1981 (Fr.).....	2	8	4.0	2	5

(85) JOE CORMIER—6-6½, 213, 19, Fr.

Redshirted as a freshman in 1981, Cormier had an impressive spring and came into fall listed as the backup to the returning starter at tight end, Fred Cornwell. John Robinson is excited at the prospect of having his young tight end around for four years.

"Joe has the potential to do it all," says the coach. "He's got excellent speed and he can catch. As he adds weight, he can also develop into an excellent blocker. All in all, he simply has enormous potential — and is very much in the mold of the other great tight ends we've had at USC."

Joe came to the Trojans from Serra High in Gardena (Calif.) where he played three positions as a senior. He caught 7 passes for 165 yards and 3 touchdowns as the tight end through four games and then moved to offensive tackle when injuries depleted the line. He also started at defensive end and made 41 unassisted tackles, blocked 4 punts, broke up 14 passes and sacked the quarterback 8 times.

As both a junior and senior Cormier was named to the All-Camino Real League first team. He was also an all-conference pick in basketball and high jumped 6-4 and ran the 440 in 50.8 for the track team.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Cormier says his biggest sports hero is San Diego Charger tight end Kellen Winslow. Asked why he came to USC, he said, "I want to be a winner, so I picked the winner."

(84) FRED CORNWELL—6-5, 234, 21, Jr.

As the starting tight end in 1981, Fred Cornwell caught only 3 passes for 19 yards, but he'll never forget one of them — and neither will Oklahoma.

The Trojans were trailing the Sooners with nine seconds left, 24-21, when John Mazur scrambled to his left and lobbed the winning touchdown pass — a 7-yarder — to Cornwell, who broke open in the left corner of the end zone. The Coliseum clock showed two seconds left and USC had beaten Oklahoma, 28-24.

"When I caught the ball, I didn't know what to think," Cornwell said later. "I think my mind went blank. For an instant I didn't hear anything. I thought there might have been a flag thrown, or something."

"But when I saw all my teammates charging after me, I knew the touchdown was good. I knew we had won. Not in my wildest dreams did I ever think I'd score the winning touchdown in the final seconds against Oklahoma."

This season John Robinson hopes his tight end will catch many more passes.

"Fred played very well as a sophomore starter," said the coach. "He was very effective as a blocker, but we didn't use him enough as a receiver. He can get open and catch the ball, and we want him to be more successful at doing that. I'm confident he'll catch a lot more passes."

Cornwell played briefly as a freshman for the unbeaten 1979 team, snagging a 19-yard throw from Scott Tinsley that put the ball on the Minnesota one. Then he was redshirted in 1980.

He came to USC from Canyon High in Saugus (Calif.), where he was a two-year starter as a tight end and defensive end, making the All-CIF Division II first team as a senior and second team as a junior. Fred caught 44 passes in his two seasons. He also started for three years as the center on the basketball team and put the shot (58-4) and threw the discus (174-0) for the track team.

Born in Osborne, Kansas, Cornwell is a civil engineering major at USC. He says his favorite class is "theory of structures." An outdoorsman, he's drawn some attention for one of his hobbies. "My favorite pastimes are water and snow skiing," he says, "and, of course, dog sledding." Of course.

(88) PAT McCool—6-4, 235, 22, Sr.

As the backup tight end in 1981, McCool saw 60 minutes of action, although he didn't catch a pass. He also played on the special teams and made 4 tackles.

"Pat has had some injury misfortune in his career here," says John Robinson, "and it was a shame he hurt his ankle last spring, because he was very impressive when he played. He's among our most competitive and en- thusiastic players and has been a great member of our special teams. He's healthy now and will play a lot this fall."

A tight end in high school, Pat played in the very first game of his freshman year of 1978 at that position, then hurt his knee, had surgery and was redshirted. In 1979 and 1980 he was a backup outside linebacker, playing 19 minutes and making 7 tackles in 1979 and playing 44 minutes on the kick teams with half a dozen tackles in 1980.

McCool came to USC from Antelope Valley High School where he was an All-CIF Division II pick as a senior and Golden League Player of the Year, catching 27 passes for 507 yards (18.8 average) and 9 TD's. Both the years he started for Antelope Valley his team won the Division II title. Pat also played basketball and high jumped, threw the discus and put the shot for the track team.

An urban planning major, McCool says he enjoys "camping, fishing and spending time with my friends and family." He was involved in a funny incident in high school. "I wound up," he says, "catching a punt kicked by our own punter."

OFFENSIVE LINEMEN

(75) JOHN DENVIR—6-5½, 263, 19, Fr.

Redshirted as a freshman, Denvir is a backup offensive tackle who came to USC from Garces Memorial High in Bakersfield. At Garces he played both offensive and defensive tackle and won first team All-South Sequoia League honors. He was also captain of the team and an outstanding student with a 3.85 grade point average (out of 4.0), winning his school's outstanding scholar-athlete award.

Born in Boulder, Colo., John is a political science major with a B+ average (3.48 GPA). He loves outdoor life. "I like to get away from the city to go hunting, camping and fishing," he says, and in the summer he works on his grandmother's dude ranch near Santa Barbara.

(76) TOM HALLOCK—6-6, 250, 19, Fr.

A tight end as a freshman, Hallock sprained ligaments in his right knee before the season started and was redshirted. He later had surgery on the same knee to remove a torn cartilage. Now moved to the interior line as either a center or a guard, he appears to have a bright future.

"Tom's an outstanding prospect," says John Robinson. "He has great quickness and athletic ability and more size will come with maturity."

As a senior at Santa Ynez High near Solvang (Calif.), Hallock was a first team All-Los Padres League pick at tight end and second team all-league choice at defensive end as a senior. On offense he caught 18 passes for 229 yards and 2 TD's. On defense he made 67 tackles, recovered 4 fumbles, broke up 6 passes and intercepted another. He was also team captain and student body president.

A business major with a B average, (3.11 GPA), Hallock lists his favorite hobbies as "fishing, backpacking, listening to music and watching girls."

(61) MICHAEL LAMB—6-5, 260, 22, Jr.

The backup to Don Mosebar at weak tackle, Lamb played 20 minutes as a sophomore and is a key reserve this season.

"Michael has made steady improvement as a player," says John Robinson, "and with an injury or two in the line he could really play a lot this fall."

Lamb came to USC in the spring of 1979 after graduating from Clovis High near Fresno in June, 1978. He didn't see action in 1979 and 1980. At Clovis, Lamb was a two-year letterman in wrestling, besides playing football, and was timed in 4.9 in the 40. He played in the Fresno City-County All-Star game in 1978.

Considered one of the squad's comics, Lamb lists his favorite hobby as "team roping."

(55) JOE LEIMBACH—6-2, 200, 20, Jr.

As a freshman in 1980, Leimbach made the team as a walk-on center, but has gone on to be the full-time punt snapper, hiking for all 50 of Dave Pryor's punts in 1980 and all 51 in 1981. He was awarded a scholarship after his first season. He's also seen action on the kickoff return team.

Leimbach was a first team All-Pioneer League choice as a linebacker and offensive guard at Miraleste High School, but wasn't recruited by the Trojans. He enrolled in school in the fall of 1980 anyway and was brought down to campus during double days by his father, Chuck, a three-year letterman for the Trojans at tight end (1954-55-56). Chuck had played with current assistant coach Marv Goux.

"Special teams coach Gil Haskell wanted to see if I could snap for punts," said Joe, "and so we found a long hallway in the locker room and I hiked the ball from one end to the other. He thought I did a good job and they gave me a jersey."

John Robinson is pleased with his gift center. "Joe is a very accurate snapper," he says, "and he's also developed into an excellent cover man on kicks."

Although the center gets a slower start downfield than the rest of the punt coverage team, Leimbach made 4 tackles in 1980 and 5 in 1981.

A business major at USC, Leimbach says he enjoys "surfing, water skiing and snow skiing" and has learned to keep his eyes open. "During my freshman year I was warming up for a game by playing catch," he said, "when some friends in the stands called out to me. While I was waving at them, someone threw the ball and it hit me in the head."

(66) BRUCE MATTHEWS—6-5, 265, 21, Sr.

First team All-Pac-10 in 1981 and a pre-season All-American on the Play-boy team, Matthews is in his third year as a starter. It should be a great year.

"Bruce," says John Robinson, "is in the same league as our other recent All-American guards — Pat Howell, Brad Budde and Roy Foster. He's got excellent balance, excellent size and great determination. He should be an All-American."

An industrial engineering major, Matthews has tremendous perseverance, both on and off the field. When he came to USC, for example, he ran the 40 in only 5.5 seconds, but with hard work sliced his time to 5 flat.

Since his sophomore year, he's not only started at guard (on the weak side in 1980 and 1981, on the strong side this year), but also snapped for all placekicks. He's extremely durable, tying for the team lead in minutes played as a sophomore (310) and winding up second (328) as a junior. He was also an honorable mention AP All-American pick as a junior.

"I've coached some great guards here at USC," says line coach Hudson Houck, "and Bruce can be as good or better than all of them."

"He's already played every position on the offensive line for us (including tackle as a freshman), and he could be a star at any of them. He's a highly intelligent guy who's very mature, very consistent and very determined. His intensity and competitiveness are remarkable."

Brother of 1977 USC All-American linebacker Clay Matthews, Bruce came to USC in 1979 and started the UCLA game as a freshman tackle for the unbeaten Trojans, finishing his rookie year with 21 minutes of action. At Arcadia High he played both offensive and defensive tackle, winning honorable mention All-American honors, and being named first team All-CIF Division I. He was also on the L.A. Times All San Gabriel Valley squad. In addition, he caught and played first base for the baseball team and was an all-league heavyweight wrestler as a sophomore and junior.

He says he lacked confidence when he was a young teenager. "Early in high school I never thought I'd be playing college football," he says. "It never seemed realistic to me. Every level above me has seemed so big, like it was beyond reach. I guess that feeling comes from having an older brother like Clay. He was so good in football he made everything bigger than life."

Bruce's father, Clay, Sr., was also an outstanding player, starring at Georgia Tech and then spending six years (1950-55) with the San Francisco 49ers as a linebacker.

What else does Bruce like to play? "I'm the world champion of Intellivision Video Game," he says, "and I also like golf and scuba diving." And why did he choose USC? "I knew if I could play at USC, I could play at any college in the nation."

(71) DARRYL MOORE—6-6, 270, 20, Sr.

Moore was an inexperienced player going into the 1981 season, but he wound up sharing the starting strongside tackle job with Kelly Thomas. In 1982 he moves over to the weak side and goes into the season listed as co-starter at guard with Joe Murray.

"Darryl had a very good first year as a starter," said John Robinson. "He has outstanding size and is a smart player with excellent physical gifts — long legs and long arms — which really help a lineman with blocking."

Moore saw 170 minutes of action as a junior, after playing just 18 minutes as a sophomore and appearing in only one game as a freshman. He came to USC from Venice High where he was a first team All-Los Angeles City pick at tackle as a senior, after winning second team All-City honors as a junior. He also played basketball and put the shot.

A public administration major, Darryl says he chose USC "because of the winning tradition and because I felt like part of the family." To relax he says he likes to challenge his teammate, center Tony Slaton, to a brisk game of Pac-Man. Early in his career he learned to laugh at himself. "The funniest thing I've seen in football," he says, "was my practice performance in a film we saw. After every play I talked to myself."

(72) DON MOSEBAR—6-7, 270, 21, Sr.

A pre-season All-American on Play-boy's team, Mosebar is on his way to being a four-year starter.

"Don is already one of the great tackles in USC history," says John Robinson, "and with our tradition that's saying something. He's in the same mold as our other recent All-American tackles, Marvin Powell and Keith Van Horne, and he's one of the most fierce competitors on our team."

He should be an All-American."

Second team All-Pac-10 and AP honorable mention All-American as a junior, Mosebar has also been chosen on the Pac-10's Academic All-Conference team the last two seasons.

He's been a starter since the first game of his freshman year — three days before his 18th birthday — when he came off the bench against Texas Tech to replace future All-Pro Anthony Munoz (who had to have knee surgery). By his sophomore year Mosebar was second on the team in minutes played.

"Don has always had great poise and maturity," says line coach Hudson Houck. "But unlike so many players who level off, he's steadily improved each year. He may be outstanding, but he seems to recognize he can be much better, and last spring was his best ever."

"He's an exceptionally quick learner who listens to advice, seems to visualize it and incorporates it into his play right away. He's also got size, speed, strength, intelligence and the willingness to work hard."

Despite the rigors of his position, Mosebar has had only one serious injury in his career — torn knee ligaments and surgery which cost him the last two games of his freshman year.

He not only starred in football as a sophomore, but went out for track for the first time in two years and put the shot 56-4½ as the Trojans' No. 1 man in the event. In high school he fired the 12-pound shot 64-0½ to finish second in the national meet and whirled the discus 176 feet.

"That was my biggest personal thrill in sports," says Mosebar, "coming from two feet behind to get second place on my last throw in that national meet."

As a high school player (Mt. Whitney High in Visalia, Calif.), Don was a unanimous All-American, a member of Coach & Athlete's Super Eleven (top 11 players in the country), a unanimous pick as Northern California Player of the Year and Parade Magazine's choice as Outstanding Lineman in the Nation. Mt. Whitney went 12-1 during his junior year and 13-0 when he was a senior with the team's backs averaging 8 yards a carry over his tackle spot.

A business major with a B— average (2.84 GPA), Mosebar was born in Yakima, Wash., and says he enjoys "fishing, archery and playing video games." He picked USC after an intense recruiting war, "because it has the greatest football tradition in America."

And he thinks his position is a very challenging one to play.

"Being dumb is the stereotype of big people in our society," Don says, "but it takes a lot of brains to play in the offensive line. If the opponent switches to a different defense in the middle of the count, we have to make adjustments. You need quick reactions.

"It's still one person blocking another, but it's not as easy as people think."

(74) JOE MURRAY—6-5, 265, 22, Sr.

For most of his career Murray has seen little action as a Trojan, but by sheer hard work and continued improvement he goes into his senior year listed as a co-starter at weakside guard with Darryl Moore.

"Joe is a very determined guy who's made steady progress and is now a successful player," says John Robinson. "I count him among a large number of seniors who can and must have great years for us to be an outstanding team."

As a junior in 1981, Murray played 24 minutes as the backup to Bruce Matthews at weakside guard, after playing briefly in 1979 and 1980 and redshirting back in 1978.

He came to USC from Loyola High in Los Angeles where he made the Scholastic Coach All-American team, was a first team All-CIF Division 1 pick at tackle and was chosen Del Rey League Lineman of the Year. As a senior in 1977, Joe played both offensive and defensive tackle and helped lead his team to a 9-2-1 record and the CIF semifinals. Loyola's coach, ex-Trojan tailback Steve Grady, says the backs ran behind him 80% of the time. In the spring he played catcher and first base for the baseball team.

A history major, Murray is a thoughtful young man who says, "My most thrilling experience is being able to have the physical ability to have played athletics because some people may never be able to." To relax, he says, "I like to listen to music in my room and spend time with my friends to break the usual 'rat race' of school and football."

Murray appreciates that some of the most fierce competition at USC takes place on the practice field. "The toughest player I've ever faced," he says, "is (ex-Trojan defensive tackle) Myron Lapka, because he taught me how hard it is to be a good player, and he taught me every day at practice!"

(60) MIKE ROTH—6-2, 260, 22, Sr.

The backup to Tony Slaton at center, Roth played 20 minutes as a junior after transferring to USC from West Los Angeles College. And John Robinson is happy to have him.

"Mike has developed into a solid backup who gives us excellent depth at center," said the coach. "He's very determined and eager to play."

Roth actually started his college career at the University of Hawaii and saw action as a reserve center against USC's national championship team that beat Hawaii, 21-5, in 1978. He later transferred to West L.A. where he spent a season as a tight end, catching 3 passes for 17 yards. He also made the Dean's List for two semesters.

Mike played high school football at Mira Costa, appearing at tight end, tackle, guard and center during his career. In 1977 he was a first team All-CIF Division II pick at guard. A speech communication major at USC, Roth says his hobbies are "sleeping, eating and lifting weights."

(77) KEN RUETTGENS—6-6, 255, 20, Jr.

Ken played 14 minutes as a sophomore backup guard and goes into the 1982 season listed behind Bruce Matthews at strongside guard, but he appears to have a bright future.

"Kenny is maturing rapidly," says John Robinson. "He's got the size now to be a front-line guard and needs only the opportunity. I'm confident he'll get that opportunity as this year progresses and develop into a front-line player for us."

Ruettgens impressed the coaching staff as a freshman in 1980 but broke a hand and, after that healed, tore cartilage in his right knee and had surgery. So he played only six minutes and missed an opportunity for more experience. He came to USC from Garces High in Bakersfield where he was an All-CIF Central Section offensive and defensive lineman in 1979. He also played center and forward on the basketball team, threw the shot and discus for the track team and played a little golf.

A business major, Ruettgens says he chose USC "because the people were down to earth. And my biggest thrill in sports was walking down the tunnel of the Coliseum for the first time." An outdoorsman, Kenny says his favorite hobbies are skiing and fishing.

(73) TONY SLATON—6-4, 255, 21, Jr.

In his first year as a starter, Tony Slaton was named first team All-Pac-10, and he's got two more years.

"Tony is still maturing physically, but he's on his way to becoming an All-American in the future," says John Robinson. "He'll really be a special player for us."

As a 1981 sophomore, Slaton was third on the offense in minutes played with 327. And line coach Hudson Houck, a former Trojan center himself, can scarcely contain his enthusiasm.

"Traditionally, we've looked for small, quick centers," says Houck, "but Tony is not only quicker than any center I've ever coached, he's also big.

"He's just got tremendous athletic ability — strength, quickness, balance — and he's also intelligent and conscientious, too."

Slaton didn't play as a 1979 freshman and got his season restored under the NCAA's new freshman redshirt rule. He was the backup center in 1980, playing 28 minutes behind Allen Pugh, before claiming the starting job in the spring of 1981.

He came to USC from Merced High where he was an All-Northern California pick and Lineman of the Year in the Central California Conference at offensive tackle. He also played nose guard on defense, center for the basketball team and threw the shot and discus in track.

A business administration major, Slaton is an organized, thoughtful young man. Asked why he chose USC, he responded: "It gave me a chance to do two things — first, compete against the best players in the country, and second, get a great education."

At USC he's also become impressed by teammate George Achica. "George is by far the best nose man I've ever faced," he says. "He's big, strong and quick." As they say, it takes one to know one.

KELLY THOMAS—6-6, 270, 22, Sr.

Thomas and Darryl Moore were the co-starters at strongside tackle in 1981, and, as Moore moved to guard before the 1982 season, Thomas became the full-time starter at strong tackle.

"Kelly's performance as a junior was very solid," said John Robinson, "and if he improves like I know he can, he'll be a very fine tackle. He's worked hard to become a starter and learned the position rapidly after moving over from defense."

Thomas was a defensive tackle in 1978 and 1979, although he didn't see any action, and played one minute as a reserve offensive tackle in 1980.

He came to USC from La Mirada High, where he played offensive and defensive tackle and center during his career. As a senior in 1977 he led the team in tackles with 110, had 7 sacks, broke up 4 passes, caused 3 fumbles, recovered 4 other fumbles and blocked 3 punts. In his spare time he snapped for punts and placekicks. He was a unanimous pick on the All-San Gabriel Valley first team. He also wrestled and threw the shot and discus for the track team.

A public administration major, Kelly loves his spare time. "I like going to the beach, playing volleyball, playing beach football, watching TV and movies, listening to music and being with my family," he says. Asked to single out the toughest player he's ever faced, he remembers his days as a defensive tackle on the USC practice field and says, "Offensive tackle Keith Van Horne."

KICKERS

(5) STEVE JORDAN—5-10, 175, 19, So.

The brother of USC's career field goal record holder, Frank Jordan, Steve will probably rewrite all of Frank's records before he finishes at USC.

As a freshman he became the Trojans' No. 1 placekicker in the third game and wound up booting 11 field goals in 17 attempts and 32 straight extra points.

His brother's career field goal record is 25, set in two seasons.

"Steve had a very solid first year," says John Robinson. "If he can keep improving, he'll develop into one of the nation's best kickers. I have great confidence in his ability."

Twice as a freshman Jordan tied the USC record for most field goals in a game (held by four others) by kicking three. He hit boots of 37, 39 and 23 yards against Stanford and then knocked through 38, 44 and 22-yards against UCLA. His longest of the season was a 48-yarder against Washington State, and he was 7-for-8 inside the 40.

His brother, Frank, had beaten UCLA with a last-second field goal in 1977, and before last year's UCLA game Steve admitted to dreaming about beating the Bruins with a kick himself. Well, he not only hit three field goals, but nailed the conversion with 2:14 left that clinched the 22-21 victory.

Jordan came to USC from San Francisco's Riordan High, where he made 18 of 23 field goals and 38 of 41 extra point tries. He hammered through four field goals of longer than 50 yards, including a long of 53 and one of 51 yards that won a game with four seconds left. He was named honorable mention All-American on the Scholastic Coach team and also was a two-year choice on the All-Northern California, All-San Francisco Bay Area and All-West Catholic Athletic League teams.

A business major, Steve says his brother, Frank, is his biggest sports hero. "The most thrilling moment in my life was watching Frank kick a field goal to beat Notre Dame in 1978," he says. (It came with three seconds left.) "I knew I wanted to play at USC after coming to all the games and seeing the way USC wins. I wanted to keep the tradition going."

Steve admits he has great confidence. "A 60-yard kick isn't impossible," he says. "I'd give it a shot."

(17) DAVE PRYOR—6-3, 215, 22, Sr.

In his fourth year as USC's punter, Pryor had his best season in 1981. He not only averaged 41.1 yards on 51 punts, but consistently frustrated Trojan opponents' attempts to run his kicks back. He was named honorable mention All-Pac-10.

Discounting a 19-yard return of a free kick after a safety, Pryor had only 15 of his other 50 punts returned for a net of just 47 yards. Overall, that's an average of less than a yard per kick.

"Dave is one of the better punters in the country," says John Robinson. "He's had a solid average, and I've always been confident he'll get the ball off even with a big rush. He's very competitive in tight situations. I think he'll go on to have a good future in pro football."

Pryor's longest kick last season was a 65-yarder against California that dropped dead on the Bear three. He also eluded several rushers in the Oregon State game, disdained the punt and ran 37 yards to the Beaver 25 to set up a touchdown.

As a freshman and sophomore, Dave averaged 36.7 and 39.8 yards a kick, with longs of 63 (Oregon State) and 60 yards (Oregon). In his first season he kicked the ball either dead or out of bounds inside the 20 a total of 19 times in 21 attempts.

Pryor came to USC from Hemet High in the Mojave Desert, averaging 40 yards a punt (36 kicks) as a senior and quarterbacking his team to the San Andreas League title with an 8-2 record. He was second team all-conference as a quarterback and won first team honors as a punter. He also played forward for the basketball team and put the shot for the track team. He entered USC in 1978 and was redshirted as a freshman.

When he was a 13-year-old, Pryor handled pressure well enough to win the national punt-pass-and-kick title for his age group. The competition took place at halftime of the Super Bowl.

A geography major, Pryor is something of a free spirit. "I'd like to work in a hurricane center somewhere," he says, "or maybe measure earthquakes. I'm into things like that. And lightning storms. I love lightning storms. I'd like to work outside in a lightning storm and do some experiments."

He says he likes pressure. "The best situation I can imagine," says Dave, "would be the Rose Bowl, USC up by one point, an undefeated season and a national championship on the line, and me punting from the end zone . . . with a 13-man rush."

DEFENSE

DOWN LINEMEN

(78) GEORGE ACHICA—6-5, 260, 21, Sr.

A three-year starter at nose guard, Achica was first team All-Pac-10 as both a sophomore and junior and also second team AP All-American in 1981. Last season he made one of USC's biggest plays in years.

The Trojans led UCLA, 22-21, with four seconds left, when the Bruins, who boasted an outstanding kicker, lined up to try a 46-yard field goal that could have won the bitter showdown. But Achica, his right shoulder wrapped because of a painful bruise, burst into the backfield and blocked the kick with his left arm to preserve the victory.

"George is a natural football player who approaches the game with great physical determination," says John Robinson. "He's got great strength and excellent size and even better quickness. In fact, he has a way of coming off blocks as quickly as any man I've ever coached.

"He's a definite All-American candidate who could rank among the best defensive players ever at USC."

Achica missed practice last spring because of surgery to remove a calcium deposit from the top of his right shoulder, but he's healthy this fall. He finished his junior season as USC's second leading tackler—behind only graduated All-American Chip Banks—with 120, including 8 for 54 yards in losses.

In fact, he's made 27 tackles for a loss in his career, despite being double teamed much of the time. Last year he also broke up four passes and recovered an Oklahoma fumble on the Trojan 21. He had six double-figure tackle games, including a high of 18 against Notre Dame. Other top games included 14 tackles against Arizona, 13 (Washington), 12 (Indiana) and 11 (Oklahoma and Penn State).

As a sophomore, Achica was fourth on the team in tackles with 69 in only 9 games, topped by 12 against Oregon. He also had 11 for 46 yards in losses. As a freshman on the undefeated 1979 team, he was the No. 1 reserve in the defensive line, making 40 tackles in only 62 minutes, including 8 for a loss. He also recovered a fumble and started against Washington State when regular Ty Sperling was hurt. Against LSU that season he made 4 tackles, and 3 were for a loss.

As Robinson says, George is very quick and strong. He ran a 10.4 100-yard dash and had a 130-6 record as a heavyweight wrestler at Andrew Hill High in San Jose. A unanimous high school All-American, he was also a two-time All-Northern California choice. He set single season school records for tackles by a lineman (98), most quarterback sacks (12), most fumble recoveries (5) and most pressures on a quarterback (50), all as a senior. That helped his team win its second straight Mount Hamilton League title.

His top year as a wrestler was his junior season, when he captured the California state heavyweight title with a 35-0 record. As a senior he was third with a 34-1 mark.

A public administration major, George was born in Western Samoa, but moved to San Jose with his family when he was seven. "I think all Samoans are related in some way," he says, "so I consider all Samoans my cousins." He's married—his wife's name is Rebecca—and they have a three-year-old son named Jason. "My favorite pastime is playing with my little boy and relaxing with my wife," says George.

He's also had a long-time ambition to be a policeman. "My boyhood dream was to join the police force," he says. "I'm tired of all the things I see going on in the world, and I'd like to try and do something about it."

(94) BYRON DARBY—6-4, 240, 22, Sr.

A healthy Byron Darby would be a tremendous boost to USC's defense.

Bothered by a severely sprained ankle most of his junior season, Byron missed four games but still wound up tied for ninth on the team in tackles with 74, including 7 for 29 yards in losses. He also broke up 3 passes, recovered a fumble on the Oklahoma 28 and was in double figures in four of his eight games, topped by 12 tackles against both Cal and Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl. He started at both inside and outside linebacker. In his three-year career he has 28 tackles for a loss.

"Byron had a disappointing season in 1981 because of his sprained ankle after his switch from outside to inside linebacker," said John Robinson. "He's now firmly entrenched at tackle, and if he can come back to his full physical ability, he'll be one of the best defensive players on the Coast."

"He has very good quickness, great desire and that nasty attitude that's so important to defensive football."

Known to his teammates as "Bear," Darby was honorable mention All-Pac-10 as a sophomore when he was second on the team in tackles for a loss with 14 for 78 yards in only seven games. Again plagued by injuries, he missed four games and played three different positions—inside linebacker, tackle and outside linebacker—and had 59 tackles overall with 2 passes broken up and a fumble recovery.

Eight of his tackles for a loss that season were sacks, including three against Stanford's John Elway for losses of 6, 5 and 19 yards. His top game was 11 total tackles against South Carolina.

As a freshman, Byron played 54 minutes for the unbeaten '79 team and made 21 tackles, including 7 for 67 yards in losses. He also broke up four passes, recovered two fumbles and blocked a Washington State punt out of the end zone for a safety. He was redshirted his original freshman year of 1978.

Byron came to USC from Inglewood High where he was an All-CIF Division I first team pick at defensive tackle. He led Inglewood in tackles in 1977 with 135, including 19 sacks, and also recovered three fumbles. He was chosen the team's MVP and captain and was All-Ocean League at tackle on both offense and defense. He put the shot 57 feet for the track team.

A public administration major, Byron says his favorite hobbies are "hunting, fishing and music." Asked to single out his most thrilling moment in sports, he replied:

"Mine hasn't happened yet. But when it comes, it should be running for the goal with the ball under my arm. Since I'm on defense, you can understand that."

Because Darby has played three positions in his career, John Robinson once called him "our Derrel Thomas," referring to the multi-talented infielder-outfielder of the Dodgers. "One thing moving around has done," says Darby, "is help me to know how the whole defense is oriented. If I'm playing tackle, I know where the linebacker is supposed to be. If I'm playing linebacker, I know whether the tackle will have his inside arm free, or his outside arm free. I know the little things."

(50) CLINT HAMPTON—6-2½, 245, 22, Sr.

Backup to George Achica at nose guard, Hampton has become a steady, dependable player who made a dozen tackles in 45 minutes last season. A center when he first came to USC, he's got good quickness.

"Clint hasn't had the opportunity to play as much as we would like," says John Robinson, "but he's developed into a solid fundamental player. He'll play a lot this year and, I think, will play very well."

A reserve at both nose guard and tackle in 1980, Hampton played 14 minutes and made four tackles, including a four-yard sack of Stanford's John Elway in the Trojans' 34-9 win. He was a redshirt in 1978 and non-playing squad member in 1979 as a center.

Hampton came to USC from Muir High, where he played only as a senior, because of an injury his junior year, and still made the All-CIF Division I second team as a center and the All-San Gabriel Valley team as a center and defensive tackle. He had 75 tackles and six sacks that season.

A public administration major, Hampton says ex-Trojan All-American Gary Jeter is his biggest sports hero. "I once spent a summer working out with him," he says.

(63) JOHN HARVEY—6-3, 240, 22, Sr.

A JC transfer in 1981, John has become a starter at tackle in 1982. John Robinson is excited about him.

"Harvey showed consistent improvement throughout last season and then had an outstanding spring," said the coach. "He has good size and is very, very quick. John is a player to watch."

Harvey made the most of his time as a reserve tackle in 1981, bringing down 34 ball carriers in only 63 minutes of action, including 3 tackles for a loss of 22 yards. One was a 10-yard sack of Penn State quarterback Todd Blackledge in the Fiesta Bowl. He also recovered an Oklahoma fumble on the USC 28 and an Arizona fumble on the Wildcat 16 to set up a field goal.

John was a second team JC All-American at defensive end at Long Beach City College in 1980, when he made 89 tackles, 62 of them unassisted, caused 3 fumbles, had 12 sacks, and deflected a pass. He was also second team All-State and first team All-Metropolitan Conference.

In high school John played offensive tackle for Compton and was an All-Moore League choice. A public administration major, Harvey says he enjoys relaxing at home with his family and came to USC "because of the tradition and because it's close to home."

(91) MATT KOART—6-5½, 225, 18, Fr.

Redshirted as a freshman in 1981, Koart was not highly recruited when he came to USC. But John Robinson feels the Trojans uncovered a top player of the future.

"Matt has shown dramatic improvement," says the coach. "He's the perfect height for a defensive lineman and, as he matures and gets stronger, he'll be an outstanding player."

A backup tackle for the Trojans, Koart (pronounced Court) was both a defensive tackle and offensive guard at Dos Pueblos High in Goleta (Calif.), making the All-CIF Division II second team at guard. He was also first team All-Channel League, as well as team MVP and captain.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Matt has a B average (3.27 GPA). He says he enjoys skiing and hunting in his spare time and came to USC "because I wanted to attend the best school and play for the best team in the nation."

(90) BRIAN LUFT—6-6, 255, 19, So.

Although he's listed as a backup tackle going into the fall, Brian Luft is improving so fast the coaches consider him a fourth starter for the three-man defensive line.

"We look upon Brian as a starter," says John Robinson. "He's big, he's physical and he's nasty. He wants very much to be a great player, and I think he's going to be one."

Luft made a fast impression as a freshman, blocking a Tennessee field goal in his first game. He wound up the season playing 40 minutes, making 11 tackles, including 1 for a loss of 3 yards, and breaking up a pass.

Brian came to USC from Bullard High in Fresno, where he was the Defensive Lineman of the Year in the North Yosemite League during both his junior and senior seasons. He was also a Scholastic Coach honorable mention All-American, a two-year All-Fresno Area pick and saw action at both offensive and defensive tackle. In one game with Modesto he made 9 unassisted and 7 assisted tackles.

An outstanding athlete, Luft also threw the shot put for the track team and was twice named to the All-Northern California soccer squad as a goalie. He was on a soccer all-star team that represented the U.S. in Europe.

Off the field, Luft, who's an undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, says he enjoys "water skiing, listening to music and going to the beach." He's learned a lot facing the USC offense in practice. "Bruce Matthews (guard) and Don Mosebar (tackle) are the two toughest players I've ever faced," he says. And another Fresno native, ex-USC All-American guard Pat Howell, is his biggest sports hero.

(95) DAVE PURLING—6-5, 230, 20, So.

Redshirted last year, Purling is a backup tackle who played two minutes with one tackle as a freshman in 1980.

He came to USC from San Marcos High in Santa Barbara, where he was All-Channel League first team as a defensive tackle. That season he made 63 stops, caused 4 fumbles, blocked 4 passes and had 3 quarterback sacks.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Dave says he enjoys backpacking and surfing.

LINEBACKERS

(53) JOHN BERRY—6-3, 225, 19, So.

John Berry has been a frustrated young player. Only a recurring cervical (neck) sprain has kept him from making a big impact on USC's team.

Forced to the bench much of last fall, he still made 21 tackles in only 45 minutes as a freshman, including 1 for a loss. Given a chance to play most of the Notre Dame game in South Bend, he made 10 tackles in the 14-7 USC victory. Then last spring he again was out of action.

"If Berry is healthy, he'll play a lot," says John Robinson. "He's physical, he's intelligent and he has a natural instinct for this game. He's got a great future, and it's just a matter of time before he makes a big impact on our team."

Blessed with good speed, Berry goes into fall listed behind August Curley at inside backer. As a senior at Northgate High in Walnut Creek in Northern California, he made 91 tackles and had three interceptions. He was an All-Diablo Valley Athletic League pick at both linebacker and fullback, as well as All-East Bay, and also punted for a 44.8 average. In track he high jumped 6 feet, threw the discus 189-0, and put the shot 54-0. He also played basketball.

In one game John picked off a pass and went 60 yards in the last two minutes for the winning touchdown, and in another he intercepted two pitchouts against a Wishbone team and ran them in for scores.

An outstanding student, Berry has an A- average (3.67 GPA) in biological sciences. He says his ambition is to be a veterinarian. "I love animals," he says, "and have a special interest in falcons. I spend a lot of time with them, and I've read a lot of books on falconry."

(80) DUANE BICKETT—6-5, 218, 19, So.

A reserve tight end as a freshman, Bickett played 27 minutes, mostly on the special teams, and made 4 tackles. In the spring he was moved to outside linebacker and has found a home.

"Duane made the adjustment to his new position very well," says John Robinson, "and has a bright future as a defensive player at USC. He's got great size and intelligence and has a nasty attitude about the game. He'll play a lot this year."

Bickett was second team All-CIF Division II at tight end in 1980 at Glendale (Calif.) High, snagging 47 passes for 581 yards and 7 TD's as a senior. At defensive end, he averaged 12 tackles a game, intercepted 2 passes and caused 5 fumbles. In one game he caught 10 passes for 142 yards and two scores, and in another he was in on 21 tackles. He was an All-Foothill League pick at both positions.

A marvelous all-around athlete, Duane played forward for the basketball team and was the CIF 2-A Co-Player of the Year as a senior, averaging 18 points a game and leading Glendale to the 2-A championship. He scored 23 points in the final game, going 9-for-9 from the floor, and was named MVP of the tournament. He also pitched and played first base for the baseball team.

A business major with a B+ average (3.43 GPA), Bickett says he enjoys escaping to the High Sierra mountains to go backpacking. Asked who his biggest sports hero is, he said: "Dick Butkus, because of his Lite Beer commercials."

(57) KEITH BROWNER—6-6, 215, 20, Jr.

Fifth of six Browner brothers to play football, Keith is a starter at outside linebacker for the Trojans and a potential star.

"Keith is developing into a premier linebacker," says John Robinson. "He has outstanding size and speed, but above all, he's a natural football player. I think he'll have a great year."

Browner didn't do badly as a sophomore. Considered the "third starter" at outside linebacker, he came off the bench to finish ninth on the defense in minutes played and a stunning fifth in tackles with 83. Included in his stops were 4 for a loss, and he also broke up 6 passes, recovered a fumble, and intercepted a Penn State pass on the Trojan 18 (Fiesta Bowl).

As a freshman, the 6-6 Browner played 43 minutes on all the kickoff and punt teams and made 14 tackles (1 for a loss) and recovered a fumble. He also went out for the basketball team in December and made it as a reserve forward.

His older brothers include Joey, a senior starting safety at USC; Ross, the 1976 Outland Trophy and 1977 Lombardi Award winner as a defensive end at Notre Dame; Jim, an ex-Notre Dame starting defensive back; and Willard, an ex-Notre Dame and Utah State fullback.

At Southwest High in Atlanta, Keith was a great all-around athlete. He didn't even play football as a senior, concentrating on basketball, where he was a two-time All-Georgia AAA center. As a senior he averaged 16.4 points and a state-high 17.5 rebounds a game and led his team to an 18-7 record. In his junior year, he paced Southwest to a 24-6 mark and the state title.

As a junior linebacker in high school, Browner was the MVP on a 10-2 team, scored 4 touchdowns on defense and made the All-Georgia AAA and All-City teams. He was also a brilliant baseball player, hitting .385 and .395 the last two years and turning in an 11-2 pitching record. He even won several art awards for his drawings.

A public administration major, Keith relaxes by "listening to music and drawing." His biggest sports heroes are his older brothers. "They taught me all about sports and life and what to expect in the future," he says.

The toughest players he's ever faced? "My brothers."

(58) JEFF BROWN—6-2, 220, 20, Jr.

A backup inside linebacker, Brown played 40 minutes as a sophomore and made a spectacular 30 tackles in that time, including 1 for a 7-yard loss. He missed the last three games following knee surgery for torn cartilage.

Last spring he was a catcher and first baseman for the Trojan baseball team, starting at first for most of the year and batting .273 with 3 homers, 6 doubles and 24 RBI's. He played in 51 of the 59 games.

A valuable special teams performer in 1980, Jeff saw 39 minutes of action on all the kickoff and punt teams, making 11 tackles, recovering a fumble and returning 3 kickoffs.

He came to USC from Monache High in Porterville, Calif., where he was a much-honored two-way player. As a senior, he was a first team All-Northern California choice at linebacker and first team all-league pick at fullback.

He set a number of school records as a fullback, including most yards rushing in a season (1,580), most touchdowns in a season (23), most carries in a season (290), most yards rushing in a game (240) and longest scrimmage run (94 yards). To show his versatility, he was a first team all-league nose guard as a junior.

A business major with a 3.00 grade point average, Jeff says he enjoys relaxing by going fishing. He remembers an embarrassing moment in high school. "Running out to my position one day," he said, "I tripped and fell flat on my face."

(87) AUGUST CURLEY—6-4, 224, 22, Sr.

A starter at outside linebacker in 1981, Curley starts inside in 1982. He had an outstanding season as a junior.

In his first season as a regular, he won honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors, as he finished third on the team in tackles with 115, including 7 for 48 yards in losses. He also deflected 6 passes, recovered a fumble and stopped a Washington drive on the USC 36 with a spectacular interception.

"We've moved August inside both to fill a need for us and to maximize his skills," says John Robinson. "He's one of our most steady players, and he'll be right in the middle of the action."

"He combines a solid fundamental approach to the game with a great ability to compete mentally. He's a very intelligent player."

Curley was in double figures in tackles in 8 of his 12 starts last year, topped by 13 against Stanford, Notre Dame and Washington. In fact, he hit double figures in six straight games down the stretch.

As a sophomore outside backer in 1980, he started against UCLA and Notre Dame and saw a total of 114 minutes of action, coming off the bench in his other nine games. He made 36 tackles, including 4 for 12 yards in losses, and broke up a pass.

August led the team in tackles against Washington with 11 that year and also picked a fumble out of the air on the USC one to stop a first quarter Husky drive. He fell on another fumble at the Washington 36 in the third quarter to set up a USC touchdown.

In 1979 he redshirted, following a shoulder separation, and as a 1978 freshman with the national champs he played 30 minutes on the special teams and made a dozen tackles.

Curley came to USC from Southwest High in Atlanta (as did Joey and Keith Browner), where he was an All-State, All-City and All-Conference pick, averaging 10 unassisted tackles and a pair of sacks a game as a linebacker. He also played forward on the basketball team and pitched for the baseball team, throwing the first no-hitter in Southwest's history.

A marketing major at USC, Curley is an avid surfer and photographer. "I spend the majority of my free time either at the beach or behind my camera," he says.

August discovered surfing in 1978 when USC was in Hawaii to play the Rainbows. "I was walking on Waikiki Beach and I went by a place where they were renting surfboards," he says. "So I took one out. It took a while before I could stand up and get the technique down, but I've liked it ever since."

"The coaches don't want me to surf during the season, but I still go out in the water occasionally. I paddle out early on Sunday morning and the salt water makes me feel better after a game."

Surfing can be tougher than football. In the summer of 1981, another surfer fell off his board and it rammed Curley near the eye. "It took 10 stitches to close the wound," he said.

(52) JACK DEL RIO—6-4, 235, 19, So.

Jack Del Rio came to USC as one of the most heralded high school players in America. And he lived up to every expectation.

"I've never had a freshman who had a better first year than Del Rio," said John Robinson. "His skill amazes me. He's big, with remarkable agility for his size, and he's just loaded with that fierce defensive attitude you want."

"If he keeps improving at the same rate, he'll soon be contending for national honors."

Del Rio became a starter at outside linebacker in the fifth game last fall and wound up leading the Trojans in tackles for a loss with 11 for 71 yards. Overall, he finished with 69 tackles, topped by 10 against Cal and Washington, and broke up 3 passes. On one memorable play against UCLA, he smashed through two blockers to sack quarterback Tom Ramsey for a five-yard loss, knocking down all three players.

When the year was over, Football News named him Freshman Defensive Player of the Year in the country.

Del Rio came to USC from Hayward High near San Francisco, where he was a unanimous All-American and first team All-California as a senior and second team as a junior. He was also named Outstanding Player in the Bay Area in 1980 and a two-year pick as All-Northern California, All-East Bay and Hayward Athletic League MVP.

In his three-year career, Del Rio had 40 quarterback sacks, nine fumble recoveries, three interceptions, two safeties and 332 tackles, topped by 136 as a senior. On the side he kicked 14 extra points. His team won its last 15 league games. Jack was also an outstanding basketball and baseball player, as a guard and catcher-outfielder-first baseman. He was all-league in both sports and All-Northern California in basketball.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Jack says, "I enjoy all water sports, particularly water skiing." And he thrives on the competition at USC.

"I came to USC," he said, "because I wanted to compete daily with the best football players in the country in order to become the best player possible."

(35) RIKI GRAY—6-2, 220, 22, Sr.

"Riki Gray," said John Robinson recently, "would have been a first round draft choice in 1982 if his career had been allowed to develop normally."

It didn't, of course, because the intense senior inside linebacker, hoping to be a four-year starter for the Trojans, has had a series of injuries to his left knee that finally cost him the 1981 season. After starting for three years and winning first team All-Pac-10 honors as a sophomore and second team as a junior, he had to redshirt last season after spring knee surgery to tighten ligaments. He's worked out practically every day for a year to try and come back.

"If Riki's knee holds up and he's able to return to form," Robinson said before the season, "he'll give this team a huge boost. He's one of the most determined, aggressive, fanatical players I've ever known."

"The drive he's shown to come back and play his senior year is unparalleled in my experience. He deserves to have a great season."

As a junior, Gray won those second team All-Pac-10 honors, although an injury to his knee kept him out of four games. He had 59 tackles in his seven games, topped by 13 against South Carolina and 11 against UCLA, and broke up 4 passes. But as a freshman and sophomore in 1978 and 1979 he was a Trojan star.

As a freshman Gray not only started for the national champs, but was third on the team in tackles with 86, including a team-high 15 against Michigan in the Rose Bowl (USC won, 17-10). He also had 7 tackles for 40 yards in losses, knocked down 2 passes, recovered a fumble and ran an interception back 25 yards for a TD against Hawaii.

In 1979—when he was first team All-Pac-10—he was second only to All-American Dennis Johnson in team tackles with 96, including 3 for 14 yards in losses. He had 13 against Notre Dame, 11 against Stanford, 10 against both UCLA and Arizona, and 9 against unbeaten Ohio State in the Trojans' 17-16 Rose Bowl victory.

In fact, the Buckeyes had a first and goal on the USC two-yard line late in the first quarter when Gray was in on three straight tackles to help turn them away without a score. He teamed with Johnson to hold Art Schlichter to a yard on first down, then teamed with nose guard George Achica to stop tailback Calvin Murray for no gain on second down. On third down he tackled fullback Paul Campbell unassisted, again for no gain. Johnson tackled Schlichter at the one on fourth down.

Born in Christchurch, New Zealand, Gray went home in the summer of 1981 to visit his father (his parents are divorced) for the first time in 12 years and discovered his real last name is Ellison. He had been given his stepfather's name of Gray, but plans to use Ellison in the future.

Riki and his mother moved to America in 1971, and when she came to USC on a modern dance scholarship and he saw some Trojan games, he was hooked. "It was that white horse, the band, the song girls, the Coliseum itself and all that enthusiasm," he said. "I was hooked. If I could play for USC for 20 years, I'd do it."

He actually came to USC from Amphitheater High in Tucson, Ariz., where he was a unanimous All-American pick. He averaged 13 tackles a game as a senior and was All-Arizona as both a junior and a senior. In one game at linebacker he scored three touchdowns, running back two interceptions and falling on a fumble.

Last spring, the industrious Gray graduated in physical education and has now begun working on a second degree in international relations. He was married in July—his wife's name is Sheila—and he has kept busy with his four hobbies: "reading, chess, horseback riding and surfing."

(65) HAROLD HENDERSON—6-3, 218, 22, Sr.

A walk-on outside linebacker who has never seen action for the Trojans, Henderson has kept working hard and kept improving. And one day last spring John Robinson called the team together and told them that Harold was being rewarded with a scholarship.

The tenacious senior came to USC in 1978 from Barstow High in the Mojave Desert where he played defensive end, tight end and center during his career, and was named his team's most valuable player in 1977.

A finance major at USC, he's thrilled to be where he is. "My greatest moment in sports is being part of the USC football team and the prestige associated with it," he says. Away from football, he enjoys "basketball, golf, spending time at the beach and being with someone special."

And he's learned a lot in practice. "The toughest player I've ever faced," he says, "is (tackle) Don Mosebar."

(54) NEIL HOPE—6-2, 215, 19, So.

As a freshman inside linebacker, Neil Hope was second only to Jack Del Rio in minutes played among the rookies, seeing 113 minutes of action and making an impressive 52 tackles. He also broke up 3 passes, recovered a fumble against Washington and started against Stanford, Notre Dame and Washington.

He led the team in tackles with 15 against Washington and also was in double figures in his other two starts, getting 13 against Notre Dame and 11 against Stanford. He missed spring ball following shoulder surgery, but John Robinson is excited about his future.

"Neil is a young player with great potential," says the coach. "In fact, he's the fastest linebacker we've had since Richard Wood. If he gets off to a fast start, he could have a great season for us."

Wood was a three-year All-American for the Trojans who is still playing for Tampa Bay.

Hope came to USC as a Parade and Scholastic Coach All-American from Fairfax High in Los Angeles, where he had 205 unassisted tackles in his career, along with 8 interceptions and 9 fumble recoveries. As a senior in 1980 he led Fairfax in tackles in nine straight games. He was also All-Los Angeles City and All-Freeway League and had a best game of 20 tackles.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Hope says his most thrilling moment in sports "was starting against Notre Dame in South Bend." And he's still embarrassed, "because I slipped and fell twice on the AstroTurf at Cal."

(97) BRENT MOORE—6-5, 215, 19, Fr.

Redshirted as a freshman, Moore is a reserve outside linebacker. He came to USC from San Marin High in the little town of Novato in Northern California, where he was a three-year starter at defensive tackle and a first team All-Marin County League pick as a junior and senior.

He had 53 tackles as a senior and also played tight end on offense, snagging a dozen passes for 151 yards. In the winter he played center for the basketball team.

Brent has a B average (3.13 GPA) as an undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences and says he enjoys "skiing, lifting weights and riding motorcycles."

(89) CHUCK MOORE—6-2, 215, 20, Jr.

A reserve outside linebacker, Chuck is a walk-on who came to USC from Westchester High, where he was an All-Freeway League pick as a defensive end and ran an interception back 65 yards to help win a game. He also caught for the baseball team.

A physical education major, Moore says he enjoys playing basketball and going camping. His mother, Shirley, is the secretary for USC basketball coach Stan Morrison. "My dad went to school here," says Chuck, "and I've been a Trojan all my life."

(48) TIM SULLIVAN—6-2, 220, 21, Sr.

A backup inside linebacker, Sullivan started three games in 1981 and made 33 tackles, topped by 10 against Indiana. He also recovered an Oregon State fumble at the USC 19 and had one tackle for a loss.

"Tim is an aggressive player who likes the game," says John Robinson. "He had a good spring and did a much better job of reacting to the ball than he's ever done before. Now that his skill level has improved, he's right back in the hunt at linebacker."

Nicknamed "Sluggo," Sullivan came off the bench to play

28 minutes as a sophomore in 1980, making 7 tackles. Four of those came in the Arizona game when he had to play the entire second half for injured regular Riki Gray. As a freshman in 1979 he saw seven minutes of action without making a tackle.

Tim came to USC from St. John the Baptist High in Massapequa, N.Y., where he was a two-year all-league pick in the Long Island Catholic Conference at inside linebacker and offensive guard. He led St. John in tackles as a senior and blocked three punts.

"I'll never forget my first high school game," he says proudly, "because I intercepted a pass and ran it back for a touchdown." He also played lacrosse in high school.

Born in Bethpage, N.Y., Sullivan is a public administration major who says his favorite hobbies are "lacrosse, photography and going to Arizona to rope calves and women."

(42) VIC VACA—6-2, 225, 21, Jr.

A JC transfer in the spring of 1981, Vaca dazzled the coaching staff in practice before tearing knee ligaments and undergoing surgery. In the fall he played a total of 16 minutes against Tennessee and Indiana in the first two games and made 7 tackles, but the knee still bothered him and he was able to redshirt the season.

Having Vaca for two more years is good news for John Robinson. The intense junior comes into the fall as a starting inside linebacker.

"Vic is a natural linebacker," says John Robinson. "He just seems to be able to avoid the block and find the ball carrier. He was healthy last spring and performed very well for us. He enjoys playing this game, and I enjoy watching him play."

Vaca played two years at East Los Angeles College, where he won honorable mention All-American, second team All-State and first team All-Southern California Conference honors as a sophomore. He was also first team all-league as a freshman.

Voted MVP by his teammates as a sophomore, Vaca led East L.A. in tackles with 122, including an incredible 80 that were unassisted. He also had 4 interceptions and averaged 36 yards as a punter.

Vic played at Montebello High, where he was voted the Whitmont League's Player of the Year in 1978, playing quarterback and fullback, in addition to linebacker. He was a two-time first team all-league pick. He also played forward for the basketball team and threw the shot put and discus for the track team, winning the league's shot put title in 1979.

A political science major, Vaca says he enjoys "dancing, swimming and racquetball," and says he came to USC "because it was my childhood dream."

DEFENSIVE BACKS

(41) TONY BREWER—6-2, 200, 20, Jr.

A backup cornerback and safety, Brewer played 22 minutes last fall and made 10 tackles. But he's a potential starter.

"Tony has made great progress and matured in every respect," says John Robinson. "He's a very physical player who will play a great deal for us, both at corner and safety."

As a freshman in 1980, Brewer made 6 tackles in 11 minutes of action, after coming to USC from Gardena High. Like ex-Trojan All-Pac-10 safety Dennis Smith, he was an outstanding high jumper, clearing 6-9 in high school and also triple jumping 45-3. He was Harbor League champ in the high jump.

In football Tony was a terror on both sides of the line. After missing his junior year with an injury, he made 9 interceptions and 43 tackles as a senior defensive back, while catching 11 passes for 300 yards and a 27.3 average as wide receiver. He also returned two punts for touchdowns. Against Palisades High he caught 6 passes for 114 yards, picked off 3 more and ran a punt back 65 yards for a TD.

Needless to say, he was All-Harbor League, All-South Bay and All-Centinela South Bay.

A public administration major, Tony is an avid musician. "My favorite hobby," he says, "is playing the saxophone."

On the field he remembers a high school game when he felt like a fool. "With a couple of seconds left, the other team tried a field goal that was short, and I caught the ball," he said. "I walked over to the sideline tossing the ball up and down and smiling. Then I saw my coach. He was jumping up and down yelling at me to run."

(47) JOEY BROWNER—6-3, 205, 22, Sr.

A three-year starter, Browner moves to safety this fall after starting two years at corner.

He was all over the field as a junior, leading the secondary in pass deflections with 16, making 74 tackles, returning 3 interceptions 41 yards and running 20 yards with a lateral after another interception by Troy West. He also returned 17 punts for an 8-yard average and led the defense in minutes played. For his efforts he was named second team All-Pac-10 and honorable mention AP All-American.

"We moved Joey to safety primarily because of his great range and ability to play the ball in the air," said John Robinson. "Our interception total fell off a lot in 1981, and we want to get him as close to the ball as many times as possible.

"He's got great speed and great ability to steal the ball, and if he's comfortable at this position, he can perform at the level of Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith."

First and third team All-Americans, respectively, Lott and Smith were also 1981 first round draft choices for the Trojans.

Against Cal last year, Browner sprinted 36 yards with a punt to set up USC's first TD in the 21-3 win and took back two others 22 and 20 yards. He set up two touchdowns in the 41-17 rout of unbeaten Washington State, falling on a fumble on the Cougar 29 and running an interception back to the USC 30. And, although the Trojans were upset by Arizona, Joey snuffed out two Wildcat drives with interceptions on the USC 5- and 13-yard lines.

His top game for tackles as a junior was 11 against Oregon State, and he had 10 against Washington State.

As a sophomore corner, Browner tied for fourth on the team in tackles with 69, recovered 2 fumbles, broke up 9 passes, made an interception and returned 4 kickoffs for a 24-yard average. As a freshman reserve, he played 53 minutes and made an impressive 26 tackles. He also broke up 3 passes, intercepted one for a 22-yard runback and started in the Rose Bowl against Ohio State for the injured Jeff Fisher.

Joey came to USC as a linebacker out of high school. Born in Warren, Ohio, he was All-State as a junior at Warren Western Reserve High, before transferring to Southwest High in Atlanta when his family moved. At Southwest he was a Scholastic Coach and Parade All-American, and also earned All-South, Georgia Class 3-A Lineman of the Year and Atlanta Player of the Year honors.

As a senior he made 120 unassisted tackles and intercepted 3 passes to help Southwest to a 10-2 record. In one game he scored on a 93-yard kickoff return and a 53-yard pass and made 13 unassisted tackles.

A public administration major, Joey is the fourth of six football-playing Browners, including younger brother Keith, a starting outside linebacker for the Trojans. His older brothers include Ross, the 1976 Outland Trophy and 1977 Lombardi Award winner as a Notre Dame defensive end; Jim, a three-year starter for the Irish at defensive back; and Willard, an ex-Notre Dame and Utah State fullback.

The first Browner to turn down Notre Dame, Joey said: "USC is just like Notre Dame, except that it doesn't have a golden dome. And it isn't as cold." He recalls his first visit there as a Trojan in 1979. "My first trip to Notre Dame as a player I got booed," he said. "But there's still something special about going on that field, because that's where my brothers played. When my older brothers were there, Notre Dame was like a second home to me."

Close to his family, Joey says his biggest sports hero is "my older brother Ross, because he was the most honored lineman of the '70s." His biggest thrill in sports came last year, "when I played in a USC game with my brother, Keith, starting with me for the first time."

And the toughest player he's ever faced? "My younger brother, Gerald." A 300-pounder, Gerald is a freshman this year at Georgia.

(14) DARREL HOPPER—6-1, 180, 19, So.

If Darrel Hopper can stay healthy, he'll have a great career at USC.

Listed as a starting corner going into the season, he missed about half of last season with a fractured right wrist and forearm, after missing the entire 1980 season at El Camino College with a broken left wrist. He even missed most of last spring, after reinjuring the right wrist playing basketball.

"Darrel Hopper has the talent to be an NFL corner," says John Robinson. "He's got great speed and all the natural instincts. Obviously, those broken wrists have slowed his progress, but if he remains injury-free, he's a player to watch."

A transfer to USC in the fall of 1981 from El Camino, Hopper had his eligibility restored for the year of 1980 because of his first wrist injury (which had occurred in a summer all-star game). Last year he saw 24 minutes of action, making a dozen tackles and deflecting a pass.

Hopper came to USC with great credentials. At Carson High he was the 1979 Co-Los Angeles City Player of the Year, sharing the honor with injured USC fullback Michael Alo (then of Banning).

As he led Carson to the runnerup spot for the city title, Hopper did everything for his team but carry equipment. On defense he set a City career interception record with 21, shattering the old mark of 12. He had 12 thefts his senior year alone and also deflected 16 passes and made 87 tackles.

On offense he caught 14 passes for 416 yards, a 29.7 average and 5 touchdowns, and he also returned punts (14 for 116 yards) and kickoffs (4 for 64). As a kicker he had a 43.3-yard punting average on 37 kicks with a long of 65, and he also kicked off.

As a junior, Darrel made 9 interceptions, running 2 of them back for TD's, broke up 16 passes, and made 59 tackles. He even scooped up a short field goal attempt and ran it back 100 yards for a TD. His other honors as a senior included first team All-City, Marine League Co-Player of the Year and All-South Bay.

An undeclared major in the College of Letters, Arts and Sciences, Hopper says Muhammad Ali is his biggest sports hero, "because he's the first celebrity I ever met." He remembers an embarrassing moment in high school. "I punted the ball in the mud and fell flat on my rear end."

(3) DUAINE JACKSON—6-0, 190, 19, So.

As a backup freshman cornerback, Jackson played 43 minutes and made 9 tackles, recovered a fumble and deflected a pass. He has a bright future.

"Duaine is a very intelligent, competitive player who's blessed with excellent speed," says John Robinson. "Although we don't list him as a starter now, he's one of six defensive backs I count as part of our starting secondary."

At Edison High School, Jackson was a starter on two straight CIF Big Five championship teams. As a senior he won honorable mention All-American honors on the Scholastic Coach team and was also first team All-CIF, All-Orange County, All-Orange Coast Area and Sunset League Defensive Back of the Year.

As a defensive back, Duaine stole 3 passes, made 42 tackles, broke up 8 passes, recovered 2 fumbles and blocked a punt. On offense he rushed for 234 yards and 3 touchdowns on only 21 carries for a dazzling 11.1 average. And as a junior he ran the opening kickoff back 85 yards for a touchdown in a game that determined the league championship.

Jackson also competed for the Edison track team, running the 440 in 49.7 and the 100 in 10.0.

A biological sciences major, he relaxes by "listening to music, singing and just having a great time." Asked to name his biggest sports hero, he had a thoughtful answer: "Rocky Bleier, who played football for over 10 years after doctors said he would probably never walk without assistance."

(8) MATT JOHNSON—6-2½, 190, 20, Fr.

Redshirted as a freshman, Johnson goes into the season listed as a backup safety. He's another in USC's talented group of young defensive backs.

"Matt is an aggressive young player who improved every day last spring," says John Robinson. "He should play a lot this year and will have a fine future."

Johnson was an outstanding two-way player at Castle Park High School in Chula Vista (near San Diego). As a senior safety, he made 45 tackles, broke up 5 passes, intercepted 3 more and recovered 3 fumbles. He also played flanker and caught 26 passes for 354 yards and a pair of touchdowns. He was a first team All-Metropolitan League pick.

In basketball, Matt played guard and forward and averaged 18 points a game and was a second team all-league pick, and he also competed for the track team, long jumping 21-11, running the 440 in 50.5, and speeding the 880 in 1:55.

A public administration major, he says he enjoys "golfing, fishing and surfing." He chose USC, Matt says, "because the winning tradition is so great and on the campus you also feel a great sense of fellowship and pride."

(98) DAVE LANGLOIS—6-2, 200, 22, Sr.

In his third year on the squad, Langlois is a walk-on safety who played for the first time last year, seeing 14 minutes of action and making 5 tackles.

Dave came to USC from Los Gatos High School, where he was an All-West Valley Athletic League choice as a wide receiver and defensive back. He also sprinted and long jumped for the track team, running the 100 in 9.8 and long jumping 23-4.

A business administration major, Dave was born in San Francisco and says he enjoys both water and snow skiing.

(40) BILL PRINDLE—5-10, 180, 19, Fr.

Redshirted as a freshman, Prindle is a backup safety who was a star tailback as a senior at Fresno High.

Bill played in both the secondary and the offensive backfield as a high school sophomore and junior but, moved to tailback exclusively as a senior, he responded with 1,135 yards on 95 carries (11.9 average) and scored 15 touchdowns. He had high games of 251 and 269 yards and broke off long-scoring gallops of 79, 72, 64 and 49 yards. He also caught 9 passes for 118 yards and was named All-North Yosemite League and All-Metro. As a sophomore he rushed for 875 yards and as a junior 491.

Prindle also ran for the Fresno track team, doing 100 yards in 9.8 and 100 meters in 10.55.

A business administration major, Bill says he enjoys listening to music and jogging.

(30) TIM SHANNON—6-3, 200, 22, Jr.

Shannon appeared in two games early last year, playing five minutes before separating his shoulder and redshirting the season. He's a backup safety.

"Chronic shoulder injuries have slowed Tim's career," said John Robinson, "but his shoulder seems stronger now. If he stays healthy, he can play an important role for us."

Shannon played 44 minutes as a sophomore safety in 1980, making 8 tackles and breaking up a pair of passes. He also made 8 tackles as a freshman in 15 minutes of action and recovered a fumble.

To play as a sophomore, Shannon had to work hard to recover from spring surgery that year for another separated shoulder. But he proved his toughness in high school, where he was a Coach and Athlete All-American at Christian Brothers High in St. Louis as a quarterback and linebacker, despite playing the last six games of his senior year with torn rib cartilage. He was also All-State in Missouri.

On defense as a senior he made 115 tackles and had 6 interceptions and 3 quarterback sacks. And on offense he ran for 642 yards (6.1 average) scored 7 TD's and threw for 351 yards and 3 more scores out of the Wishbone. He was also a star third baseman in baseball and went 6-for-6 with 3 homers in one game.

Shannon's father, Mike, started at third base for the St. Louis Cardinals on world championship teams in 1964 and 1967, and Tim says his father is his biggest sports hero. "I respect his knowledge of the game and its people," says Tim, "and admire the respect and friendship he receives from other sports greats."

A public administration major with a B average (3.03 GPA), Shannon says he enjoys "bass fishing, deer hunting and duck hunting."

(9) TROY WEST—6-1, 205, 21, Sr.

The player with the perfect first name for a Trojan, Troy is a quick learner.

A star linebacker at Mt. San Antonio College who had never played in the secondary, West transferred to USC in the spring of 1981 and immediately won the starting job at strong safety. He wound up leading the Trojan secondary in tackles and stood fourth on the entire team with 93, including 4 for 15 yards in losses. He also broke up 9 passes and recovered a fumble.

This year the 6-1 senior has moved again and is a starting cornerback.

"Troy will be able to use his skills even better at corner," says John Robinson. "He made the adjustment very well last spring, and as he grows more confident, he'll become even more aggressive."

"I see him as a leader of our team who will have an outstanding year."

West has not only proven to be a quick learner at his two new positions, but also showed last fall he was a quick thinker in games. Against Indiana he intercepted a pass and ran four yards and, seeing himself surrounded, he pitched the ball to Joey Browner, who ran 20 yards further. Against Cal, he stole the ball from a pass receiver after the catch.

And, against UCLA with about five minutes left in the game, he intercepted Tom Ramsey's pass and returned it 5 yards to the Bruin 39 to set up USC's game-winning touchdown drive. Troy was in double figures in tackles in four different games, making 13 against Cal and 10 against Notre Dame, UCLA and Penn State (Fiesta Bowl). He was also second on the defense in minutes played with 297.

At Mt. San Antonio College in 1980, West made 96 tackles, broke up 2 passes, had 3 quarterback sacks and had an interception for his school's South Coast Conference championship team, and he did it all in eight games.

A physical education major, Troy also played linebacker at Covina High, winning all-league honors.

He says moving to the secondary last year was more difficult than it might have looked. "When I started out in spring practice, I had very little idea of what I was doing," he said. "I would try to back-pedal and I'd fall down. At linebacker you're in the middle of things and can get lost in there. But I felt absolutely naked in the defensive backfield."

"It was a funny feeling. You move maybe just 10 feet back and everything looks so different. So clear, so vivid, so scary. I thought it was going to be easy. It sure wasn't. It was laughable at first. If a receiver gave me just a little head fake, I'd go for it every time."

"Fortunately, the coaches were very patient with me."

(45) MARV WILLIAMS—5-10, 184, 22, Sr.

USC has had great success over the years switching talented players to new positions, and Marv Williams is a great example.

He was the fourth leading rusher in Southern California CIF (prep) history as a tailback at Colton High, but he's now in his second year as a starting safety for the Trojans and doing very well indeed.

As a junior, Marv was second in the secondary in tackles with 82, and he also deflected 7 passes, recovered an Oklahoma fumble on the USC 46 and blocked a field goal against Washington State when the score was tied, 10-10. He also intercepted passes against Washington State and California and had 12 tackles against Oklahoma and 10 against Penn State in the Fiesta Bowl.

"Marv played very well in his first year in our secondary," said John Robinson. "He's not very big, but he's aggressive and instinctive in his play. Now as a veteran, he can become one of the conference's better safeties."

There was a time, however, when Williams wondered if he'd ever play at USC. At Colton High he had been voted the 1978 CIF Division II Player of the Year, after playing both tailback and fullback as a senior and running for 1,883 yards and 22 touchdowns in leading Colton to the Southeastern Conference title. He finished his career with a remarkable 4,553 yards, 64 touchdowns and 384 points, winding up not only as the fourth leading rusher, but also the third leading scorer in CIF history.

He came to USC in the spring of 1979 and, after playing tailback then, was switched to defense in the fall and appeared in just one game.

"I came here with Heisman Trophy dreams," Williams said later, "and I thought I was doing pretty well my first spring. But just before our first game in the fall, coach Robinson called me in and asked if I'd think about moving to defense. He told me I'd be able to play as a DB, but I might be on the bench as a tailback.

"I didn't say much, but I went back to my room and cried.

"I spent a whole year fighting it. My attitude was bad. It was that bad that I thought maybe I should leave. Finally, after a year, I made my decision to adapt. I started working out on my own, trying to get my back-pedal down. And it paid off.

"I've found out now that I prefer doing the hitting to being hit. I'm a DB and it's pretty exciting. I really love it."

Before his big year of 1981, Williams played 20 minutes as a backup safety and special teams performer as a 1980 sophomore, making 7 tackles and running back 3 kickoffs for a 16.7 average. Then he won the starting job in the spring of 1981.

A business administration major, Marv says he enjoys "going to the beach, playing racquetball and meeting people. In fact, I chose USC because I enjoy being around people with a winning attitude." He was so loyal to Colton High, that when his family moved closer to Los Angeles, he moved in with coach Don Markham for three years to stay and play at Colton.

(43) ROD WILLIAMS—6-0, 195, 21, Sr.

A walk-on transfer from El Camino College, Rod was a non-playing member of the 1981 team but has won himself a scholarship. He's a backup cornerback.

An All-Metropolitan League pick at El Camino, he ran an interception back 60 yards for a touchdown in 1980. He went to El Camino from Dorsey High School, where he was an All-Southern League linebacker and had 7 interceptions in one season.

A business major, Rod has a one-year-old son, Rodney, Jr., and says his favorite pastime "is spending time with my son." He had surgery on both his ankles last spring to remove calcium deposits.

ALL-TIME USC ALL-AMERICA SELECTIONS

The following is a complete listing of all USC football players who have ever received first team All-American honors. Although there are several teams selected throughout the country, the NCAA now recognizes only four in determining whether a player is a unanimous or consensus choice — UPI, AP, Football Coaches Association and Football Writers Association.

HEISMAN SALUTE

MIKE GARRETT — 1965

Two-time All-American Mike Garrett was the man who began the great legacy of USC's I-formation tailbacks.

He was the Trojans' first — and only the West Coast's second — Heisman winner when he whipped an outstanding field of candidates in 1965.

Mike set 14 NCAA, conference and USC records in his three-year career, including an NCAA career rushing record of 3,221 yards in the days when thousand-yard-a-season rushers were almost nonexistent. He later starred for the Kansas City Chiefs and San Diego Chargers.

Simpson also holds the NFL single season rushing record of 2,003 yards set in 1973 and finished his 11-year pro career as the second leading NFL career rusher behind Jim Brown.

Budde was a unanimous All-American as a senior and was also runnerup in the Outland Trophy voting. A four-year starter at Troy, he was the first freshman to start a USC season opener since World War II.

ALL-TIME LETTER WINNERS

Various standards have been used to determine USC letter winners over the years, but since 1976, squad members who have played at least 30 minutes have been listed here as lettermen.

There have been many exceptions to that rule, including kickers and others who contributed significantly to the team's success without playing 30 minutes.

In addition, senior squad members who have been on the team for several years have generally been awarded letters for their senior season, as long as they appeared in at least one game. This has been a long-standing policy.
